Reading Light drops summer surcharge

The Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) has eliminated the summer surcharges in its billing, starting with the October billing. Summer surcharges have been in effect for the past two years. The basic rates, starting in October will be back to the May 1986 level.

The RMLD did not experience, this summer, a new peak system-load, although it did have a seven percent energy growth through August. The cooperation of customers contributed to the good results.

The New York Power Authority credit for October, assigned to residential customers, is to be $7.44, and the fuel charge is to be .75 cents per kilowatt hour. The continued shutdown of the Pilgrim Plant of Boston Edison is not expected to have a great effect on the bills of customers, the RMLD has stated. The RMLD is on a "Contract Demand" contract with Boston Edison, from which company it purchases about 40 percent of its power. The marginal effect that will be experienced by RMLD customers will be in the fuel charge.

The RMLD expects, if the present growth is continued through 1986 that any 1987 rate adjustment will be minor, assuming a stable fuel charge, and continued growth.

Hazardous waste collection planned

A collection day for hazardous materials will be conducted in Wilmington on October 25. The collection will allow residents to dispose of household materials which would constitute a hazard either to humans or to the environment should they be improperly discarded. Included would be such products as household chemicals and cleaners, drain cleaners, motor oil, solvents, pesticides or poisons.

The town has received a $5346.31 state grant to help fund the collection. Bob Palmer, superintendent of public works said that the collection will accept all materials even beyond the funding provided, to ensure that they are not carelessly discarded into the environment.

The grant from the Mass. Dept. of Environmental Management, includes $891.02 for the Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, for administering the grant.

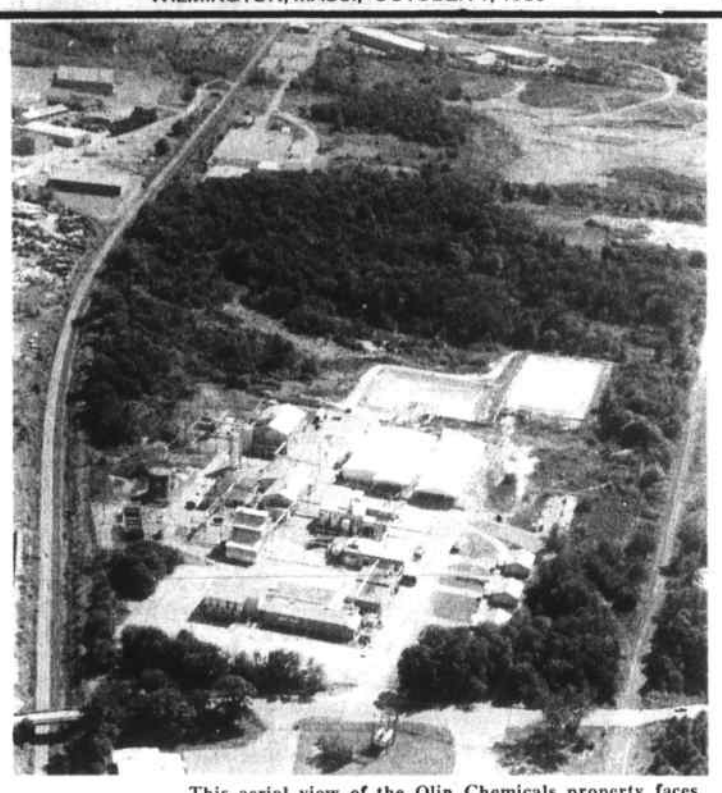

The collection will take place at the Swain School parking lot.

Fay resigns

The Wilmington School Committee last Wednesday accepted, with regrets, the resignation of principal William Fay.

Fay had been head administrator at both the North and West Intermediate schools in his long association with the school system. He was unsuccessful in his bids for high school principal and school superintendent. In the early 1970's he was a member of the Wilmington School Committee. Fay was respected by educators and parents alike for his leadership ability and the way he made young people the focal point of his career.

Fay had taken a leave of absence in June to pursue a possible career change. Superintendent Robert Horan said Fay would be working for American Traveller Inc. Administrators recently took Fay to dinner and gifted him with a momento of his years of service to the Wilmington Public Schools.

Olin property

This aerial view of the Olin Chemicals property faces south. The road running horizontally across the bottom of the photo is Eames Street. At left is the Eames Street bridge and the Boston and Maine Railroad. A second rail line, the abandoned Woburn Loop, is at right. On the Olin property, the main building is closest to Eames Street. The areas at the top of the complex are either settling lagoons or burial areas.

Commissioners want $250k bond for Olin sewer permit

The Wilmington Water and Sewer Commissioners are seeking a $250,000 bond from Olin Corp. to cover clean-up costs associated with the shut-down of the Olin plant on Eames Street.

Olin recently applied for a variance of their discharge permit from the Mass. Water Resources Authority.

The quarter-million dollar bond would cover the total estimated costs of various phases of the clean-up. Included would be cleaning of lagoons, under full-time inspection by the town's sewer consultants, $20,000, Periodic sampling and laboratory testing of discharge, $5000, cleaning of town sewer interceptor and disposal of sediments, $225,000.

"Since they're pulling out, we want the money up front," said George Allan, chairman of the Water and Sewer Commissioners. They would require the money to be deposited in an escrow account.

The commissioners would also hold Olin responsible for any damage to sewers discovered during the cleaning operation. Damage to town sewer pipe had been previously discovered, with blame laid to Stepan Chemicals, the firm which operated the plant prior to its being sold to Olin. That damage was repaired, with Stepan footing the bill.

"We're concerned about any variance, and are concerned about anything that goes down our pipes," said Allan. "If they're going to do it, they're going to do it our way."

He also has notified the Wilmington Board of Health of his concerns regarding the clean-up, especially in the lagoons. His concern is that they don't create "another Woburn situation." He was referring to problems encountered in Woburn where developers working on an old chemical plant site uncovered buried chemical wastes and remains of animal carcasses.

Raise puts Horan's salary at $61k

by Arlene Surprenant

Following some high praise from the Wilmington School Committee and an open discussion of his evaluation, Superintendent Robert Horan was voted an $11,100 increase in salary last Wednesday, bringing it up from $49,900 to $61,000 for the 1986-87 school year.

Horan received the increase in a four to one vote of the board after a brief executive session. Committeeman Shirley Callan opposed the increase saying that though Horan deserved a raise, "I don't think the town can afford $61,000." Fellow board member Phil Fenton was not present at the meeting.

The raise makes Horan the highest paid official in Wilmington government. Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski reportedly receives a base salary of $51,196.

Chairman Robert Peterson said Horan's original salary accorded him a little over a year ago was "ridiculously low" for the Merrimack area and the increase should put him on a par with superintendents in surrounding towns. Callan pointed out, however, that many of those administrators had been on the job "over 12 years."

The majority of the board agreed Horan had proven himself to be "extremely professional" in running the school system and feared, without the substantial increase, they might lose him to another town.

Saying they had "nothing to hide," committee members reversed their original position and agreed to discuss the superintendent's evaluation in public prior to the executive session to negotiate Horan's salary. The decision was the result of a complaint filed with the district attorney's office by the Lowell Sun. Originally, members had agreed to release only a composite or group evaluation to the public.

Horan was rated on 56 items ranging from leadership qualities to relationship with the school committee. He was rated on a scale of zero to nine. Though some individual members said they had accorded him the top figure, Horan averaged between six and eight on the composite profile.

Horan told those present that out of more than 400 comments from committee members, approximately 325 were commendable, 70 were satisfactory, and only three were unsatisfactory.

During the discussion, members referred to Horan in glowing terms.

Tony Accardi called him a "strong, strong leader" who heads off small problems before they grow into large ones; while Bridget Zukas said he was intelligent, hardworking, and capable.

Callan referred to Horan as "a man of principles" who holds to his convictions even when they're unpopular and keeps informed of the educational needs of the system.

Peterson said even administrators in other towns think Horan is "outstanding" and the superintendent hasn't made "a bad personnel move in the time since he's been here."

Mitchell Spiris was the only member to publicly offer concrete suggestions for improvement. Spiris prefaced his remarks with the observation that Horan is "a fine superintendent and can become an outstanding superintendent."

He pointed out that Horan is an asset to the system because he understands the needs of the community; has strengths in the area of finance, curriculum, and personnel; and "can and does make the tough decisions." In order to improve, Spiris said Horan could better organize his time and respond immediately to tasks.

"I was pleased overall," Horan said of the evaluation. In a humorous reference to Spiris' comments, he added he could improve and he was "open to criticism and occasionally will respond to it," provoking a roomful of laughter.

Great feelings as center opens

Question: How do you feel about the new handicapped center and opening day?

Carol Beaudoin (AIM member): I feel great. I feel like from here we're going somewhere and will accomplish what we set out to accomplish.

Judy DiPalma (AIM chairman): I think we had a good combination of people who came out.

Dee Genetti (AIM member): I'm really excited about it. I've seen a lot of new people and it's nice to know they actually did come out.

Senator Robert Buell: It's so great to see a local group determine their own destiny. Many of the members are not just involved with handicapped affairs, but are activists in other areas as well.

Buzz Stapczynski (Town Manager): This is a facility which will provide access in a lot of different ways.

Mary Hanson (AIM and Handicapped Commission member): I could see progress here today. The center is so needed.

Rita DePasquale (Community Fund): It took a lot of hard work; it's nice. But with all the people in Wilmington it should be overflowing.

Peggy Ryan (Aim member): I keep saying this is the answer. I'm definitely going to come here. I want communication between all people.

Rocco DePasquale (Selectmen chairman): I think the center is fantastic. It's just the fact that this building itself has proved to be a multi-faceted building and so centrally located.

Dick Duggan (AIM member): I'm elated with the response. The response is more than just from the disabled community. We've got something going and this is just the tip of the iceberg.

John Brown: I'm so happy to see this happening. We can now say look where we are and we're here.

Betty Smith: This isn't a bad idea at all. I'm sure there are people out there who can use the center.

Lillian Brown: (AIM and Handicapped Commission member): This was such a pleasant day. You just end up grinning; you couldn't help it because it's all so wonderful and they've done a good job.

Friends of Library to observe 10th anniversary

Nineteen eighty-six, eighty-seven marks the 10th year for the friends of the Tewksbury Library, and in a meeting Monday night it was decided that the event should be observed. It is, among other things, hoped that there will be a growth in membership.

The Friends provide museum passes to the Museum of Science and the New England Aquarium, in Boston. During the past year it has provided bus service for Tewksbury residents to the China Exhibit at the Museum of Science, to the Renoir Exhibit at the Museum of Fine Arts, to the Nutcracker Suite of the Boston Ballet and to the Boston Pops.

A membership committee is being planned by the Friends, with three classes of members. Tentatively, junior members, up to age 12 will be $1; senior members, over 60, will be $2; and individual membership will be $5. Any member may choose to become a supporting member for a price of $10 or more.

Membership forms are available at the desk in the library. Social events are being planned. The events may be announced at about the time of the October flea market.

David Goguen of Babicz Road is president of the Friends. Eleanor Corey is the vice president; Eileen McDonough the secretary, and Elisabeth DeMarais the treasurer.

Prize winner Roger Stone (right) was the winner of the door prize at the opening of the AIM Headquarters. It was presented by Larry Curtis, chairman of the Wilmington Handicapped Commission.

Drop-in center for handicapped opens

by Arlene Surprenant

Sunshine. Laughter. Movies, Food. Speeches. A steady hum of conversation. A feeling of accomplishment. And a respectable turnout of Wilmington residents, both disabled and able-bodied. All marked the opening day celebration of the new AIM (Access is Mandatory) Headquarters located in the Fourth of July Building last Thursday.

Members of AIM (also known as the Wilmington Committee for Citizens with Disabilities) and the Handicapped Commission combined forces to put together a day-long schedule of events designed to inform visitors about the handicapped and encourage them to utilize the facility, gaily decked out in blue and white balloons and crepe paper for the special occasion.

Visitors were able to sample tempting finger foods, juices and coffee, and a huge sheet cake supplied by Dom and Dee Genetti, which was arranged on a long table along one wall. Another table was filled with helpful pamphlets and brochures on the needs of the handicapped and assistance available. They were provided from various sources by Carol Beaudoin, Betty Landrigan, and commission chairman Larry Curtis. Three video taped films on intimate friendships, sports and the handicapped, and deaf awareness were shown throughout the festivities.

Guest speaker John Brown, who in 1983 helped found the Handicapped Affairs Committee, called awareness the key to helping the disabled. He spoke on the beginnings of the committee in Wilmington, which began with a few people and an idea, and pushed to get the disabled out of their homes and into society once again.

Jim Gleich, director of the State Office of Handicapped Affairs, praised the efforts of local organizations which help provide access for handicapped people and help enforce state laws to lift barriers. He praised AIM's efforts, in particular, saying, "this (the center) is going to integrate people with disabilities into the entire community."

In introducing Gleich, Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski said "the committee responsible for this is a hardworking group that exemplifies the axiom 'many hands make light work'" and later referred to them as "movers and shakers."

Perhaps the largest crowd of the day turned out at 4 p.m. to hear WEEI radio personality Ken Meyer give an inspirational talk on coping with blindness and how hard it is for a disabled person like himself to break into the communications field. He told an attentive audience he got his first break with station WBZ when he asked for a six month trial as an announcer and stayed 14 years.

AIM chairman Judy DiPalma pointed out that many volunteers helped make the day the success that it was. She gave credit to Jack Cushing and the Fourth of July Committee and her husband Bob for their help and support; to her committee members as well as their neighbors and friends for taking the time to bake and prepare the food; the Flower Stop, Parties and Toys, the Community Fund, Elmer Branscomb and others who generously supplied floral arrangements and balloons; to Sandy Volpe for the AIM Headsquarters windsock she donated; and to Fred Neilson who donated special AIM magnets and the doorprize (a barbecue grill which went to lucky winner Roger Stone).

AIM members expressed hopes that their initial efforts would bear fruit and bring others to join them in their new home.

"We want to integrate the disabled with the able-bodied," said an articulate Dee Genetti, one of the organizers of the opening day. A car accident victim, Dee claims the committee was responsible for getting her out of the house and getting her involved. In turn, she encourages others to come out to socialize and share information with each other because "it's quicker than going through a lot of red tape."

For the past six years, Peg Ryan remained in the house cut off from friends because of a head injury suffered in a car accident. Once she got involved in AIM, however, all that changed. This energetic 22-year-old was responsible for planning and running two AIM sponsored dances in the last two years. She, too, encourages others who feel homebound to take advantage of the new center, which will be open Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1 to 4 p.m. and Saturdays from 7 to 10 p.m.

AIM Headquarters will open for the first time Saturday, October 4 at 7 p.m. A special "Social Connection" program is planned to make visitors feel welcome and comfortable, said Carol Beaudoin. Refreshments will be served.

Wilmington School News

by Arlene Surprenant

Wildwood School

Teachers at the Wildwood School were greeted the first day with welcoming carnations from the Wildwood PAC. Teachers and students alike have been getting into the school spirit by ordering specially made Wildwood sweatshirts. Another first will be the publication of a school newsletter, "The Spirit," which will cover aspects of school life.

The PAC steering committee is planning its first PAC meeting for Thursday night, October 2 at 7:30 in the cafeteria. The agenda will include a welcome to new principal Robert Barrett, a financial report, a discussion of possible activities for the year, and a sign-up for volunteers such as room mothers, bake sale participants, raffle donors, and library volunteers to help enrich the children's educational experience. A few fund-raisers and educational activities have already been planned but the committee needs your help to make this a productive year.

The meeting will end with a social hour, during which coffee will be served and a membership table will be staffed to accept $2 family memberships in the Wildwood PAC.

Wilmington High School

Eight seniors at Wilmington High School have been named as commended students in the 1987 National Merit Scholarship Program. Based on the results from the 32nd annual National Merit Scholarship Exam, they placed among the top 50,000 of more than one million participants.

The commended students are: Alfred N. Corrieri, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Corrieri, Sr.; Edward Cuoco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cuoco, Sr.; Melissa A. Frey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Frey; Sheila M. McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald; Andrea M. Quinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Quinn; Linda A. Romanowski, daughter of Mr. Henry Romanowski; Jeffrey D. St. Onge, son of Mr. and Mrs. David L. St. Onge; and Richard L. Smith, son of Mrs. Barbara Lee Smith.

The Wilmington School Committee recently welcomed the new members of the Student School Committee to their meetings. The seniors who are serving on that committee are Carolyn Hale, Dorice Reitchel, Elena Revelas, and Jeff St. Onge. They will provide the school committee with the student perspective and give updates on school news.

According to high school guidance counselors, a series of VHS video tapes is now available in the guidance office. These tapes explain the financial aid process and tell about the various financial options available to seniors and their parents to help pay their way through college. They may be signed out for a maximum of three days.

The guidance department also announced PSAT's will be given at WHS on October 18. Although juniors customarily take the exam, this year sophomores in honors and high English and math courses are being encouraged to participate. Students may register in the guidance office during the week of October 6.

West Intermediate

Just a reminder: Parents are expected to call the school office between 7:30 and 7:45 a.m. if their child will be absent from school that day. Anyone who doesn't call will receive a follow-through call from the school that same day. Absent notes are also required when the student returns to school.

Shawsheen School

Special enrichment programs are already on the school's fall PAC agenda. In November, students will view a Jim Trelease film on reading and learn about the survival skills program from author Rob Taylor.

The Characters Theater Program will give students a chance to converse with Caroline Ingalls of Little House on the Prairie fame, Mother Goose, and Molly Pitcher. The popular program will be offered to children in grades two, three and four in December and the rest of the school next April.

At last week's school committee meeting, administrators gave brief updates on the school year so far and outlined goals and objectives they hope to follow.

While Woburn Street School principal Dolores Silva is trying her hand at learning to communicate with several Laotian children enrolled this year, North Intermediate principal Mary Driscoll is busy trying to pick up "the language of the teenagers."

In a humorous reference to the top score on the superintendent's evaluation, West Intermediate principal James Jordan said "the West Intermediate School is a total nine and my goal is to close in June with a total nine.

Wildwood School principal Robert Barrett welcomes the addition of two male teachers to the sixth grade staff while Shawsheen School administrator Robert Coffill hopes to make his facility a "child-centered school."

Residents seek completion of subdivision

by Arlene Surprenant

Neighborhood spokesman Chuck Johnston on Tuesday gave Wilmington Planning Board members a prioritized list of items still to be finished in the Middlesex Pines subdivision. The list was developed by concerned homeowners who had originally pushed for the completion of roads and sidewalks in both sections of the development.

Johnston explained that residents are interested in putting in streets, lights, and sidewalks "as soon as possible." Hopefully, said Johnston, these could be accomplished for $80,000, the amount of the bond taken by the town to complete the work. Curbing and other "enhancements," he added, could come at a later date if the funds weren't there.

Johnston said neighbors' concern is to "clean up to the point where the neighborhood is more functional." However, he explained that neighbors were aware that they weren't going to get everything done for the $80,000.

In order to save some money, chairman Carole Hamilton suggested they could either use the town's "wherewithall" to obtain materials and supplies or use town labor, which may or may not be cheaper.

"Personally," she added, "I'd like to see this go out to bid this fall" or go out to bid as an end of the season project. She also suggested homeowners ask their friends if they know someone who could do the work at a reasonable price.

Hamilton affirmed the fact that the subdivision's developer, Patrick Cone of Elm Square Builders, has appealed her board's decision to rescind the subdivision and call in the bond.

Johnston questioned whether Cone's appeal would tie up the bond and subsequent work in the development. No one had any definite answers.

Wilmington motorcyclist dies after head-on crash

A Wilmington man died of injuries sustained in a motorcycle accident on Thursday at 4 p.m..

James D'Errico, 20, of 35 Woburn St. died at the Mass. General Hospital about 12 hours after the accident.

D'Errico's motorcycle collided head-on with a car on Woburn Street in North Wilmington at the intersection of Marie Drive.

At the time of the accident, D'Errico was heading north on Woburn Street and was passing a car driven by Paul Bova of 100 Glen Rd. The motorcycle collided with a 1976 Mercury Montego driven by Karen Malfa, 26, of 43 North St. After the initial impact, Malfa's car continued on, colliding with Bova's and coming to rest in the yard at 94 Woburn St.

The impact threw D'Errico into the air. He sustained extensive injuries to the head and chest.

The motorcycle landed near a fence on the corner of Marie Drive and Woburn Street. Bova's car was spun around, and came to rest on Marie Drive facing Woburn Street.

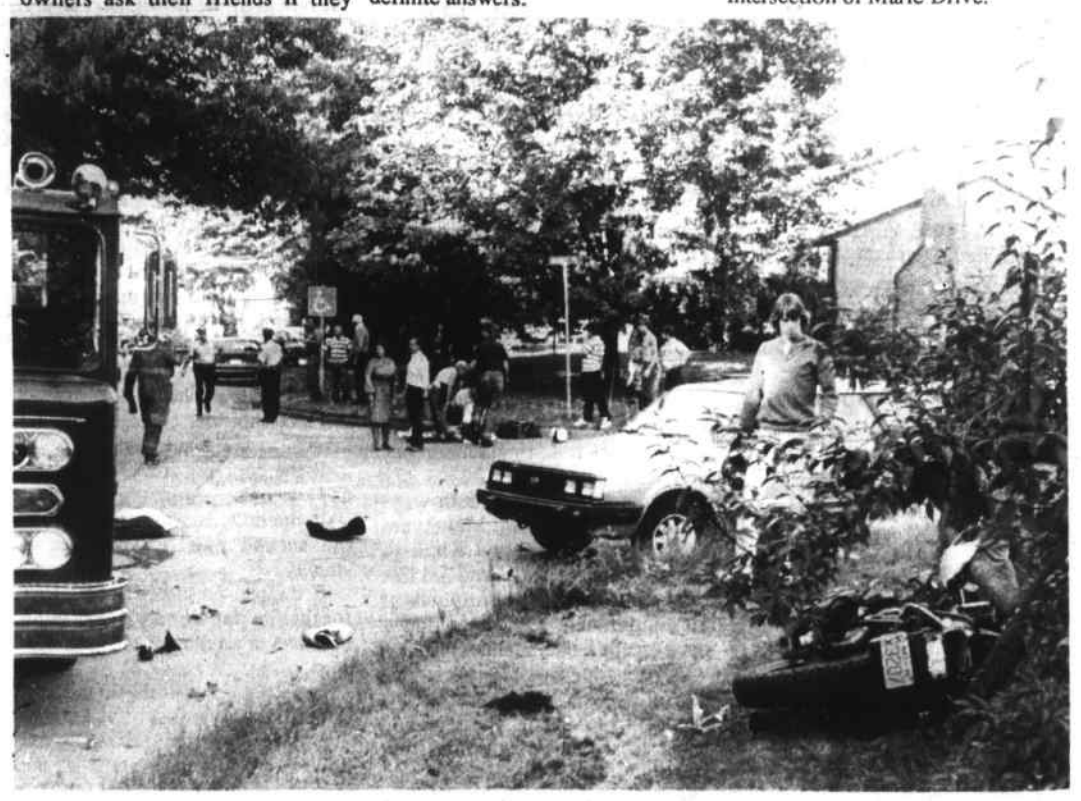

D'Errico was taken to the Regional Health Center and was transferred by helicopter to the Mass. General Hospital, where he died at 3:29 a.m.

D'Errico was the son of John and Gladys D'Errico of Woburn Street. The family lives about 200 yards from the scene of the accident.

Malfa was also injured in the accident, and was taken to the Regional Health Center. She was later treated at the Winchester Hospital. Several passengers in the Malfa vehicle did not report any injuries. Bova complained of having hit his head.

Officer Lawrence Redding on Monday issued citations charging Malfa with speeding, driving as to endanger, failure to keep to the right, and misdemeanor motor vehicle homocide.

The accident is presently under investigation by Trooper Benanti, a state police accident reconstruction specialist.

Accident scene

Emergency personnel attend to James D'Errico following Thursday's motorcycle accident at the corner of Woburn Street and Marie Drive in Wilmington. The car at right is that of Paul Bova.

The end of the low-priced haircut

George O'Brien has gone out of business.

George for many years conducted one of the smallest barber shops in the world. A one room establishment, it was located on Main Street in Wilmington, near the McNamara Tire Company. George, when it came to the clipping of hair, was a one man band.

The story starts about 1958, give or take a year or so. George Stevens, a Tewksbury resident and business man, had a place built in Wilmington in which he ran a combination restaurant and ice cream stand. That place is now the McNamara Tire Company.

Stevens, for years, had been a patron of a barber shop which was about a mile northerly of his new restaurant. The price there, for haircuts had been 75 cents.

One morning Stevens arrived at his place of business feeling a sense of outrage. That barber shop, which he had patronized for so many years, was now charging 90 cents!

So Stevens established his own barber shop, next door. He had a small place constructed, and offered it to a North Wilmington man named William (Chinky) Burbine, who conducted a barber shop in his own home in North Wilmington.

Burbine could use the place, George said, and he would charge the very, very lowest of rents. The only stipulation was that Burbine should not increase the price of haircuts in an arbitrary manner.

Burbine agreed. The barber shop with the lowest priced haircuts was in business. Broadly speaking, business was good. He was in business for a number of years, at that site.

Then George O'Brien took over. He had the same contract for rent, and for prices.

Of course prices went up, with all the inflation in the country. But with other persons in ownership, George still maintained the original agreement.

He could have put up a sign boasting that he had the lowest prices in, say, Middlesex County. But he didn't.

He just kept busy clipping away. Eventually the price was up to $3. But other shops were charging $5 or more.

The story is told that, at the $3 price, George O'Brien, in one Saturday, clipped the hair of 100 patrons. That would total $300 for one day, which is not anything of which any person can complain.

Maybe he worked 10 hours that day. That would mean 10 haircuts an hour, or six minutes for each haircut!

There was no complaint from his patrons. They just kept on coming in.

Now there is an ice rink under construction. Benny Restuccia, of Wilmington Ford is footing the bill. The entrance to the skating rink will be exactly over the site where that barber shop has been for so many years.

The story, correct or not, is that Restuccia offered other sites to George, so that he could continue his business. For reasons known only to George, he didn't want them.

So now, after a quarter of a century, the one man band of a barber shop is out of business.

Barber shop closed

The building which for many years hoased O'Brien's Barber Shop will soon be demolished. The driveway for the new ice arena will run where the building now stands. George O'Brien has closed the shop and retired.

Frankly speaking

by Kevin John Sowyrda

The Wilmington Historical Commission has expressed its concern as to their role in the renovation work on older public buildings in town. This has culminated in the writing of two pieces of correspondence to the Board of Selectmen requesting that the commission be allowed to play a role in any future work involving town owned facilities that might involve the special expertise of the historical commission.

The background for historical commissions begins with the federal government which mandated that the states establish them. In turn, the state governments passed this responsibility onto the local level where towns have had the option to establish historical commissions.

The Wilmington Historical Commission is comprised of seven members, though there are presently six due to one vacancy. The board members are appointed by the select- men. With the power of eminent domain, the commission receives funds from the taxpayers for support of such projects as the Harden Tavern, though the commission's work does not end here as it is charged by the state with the protection of all historic buildings and lands.

Subsequently, Selectman Robert Doucette has wisely suggested that the commission prepare a list of older buildings which would be considered historic, and should be renovated with consultation from the historic commission.

Accordingly, the commission has a preliminary list of thirteen such buildings and pieces of lands. Hopefully, the town administration will work closely with the historical commission in the future as the need arises. They are a group of people dedicated to service, and prepared to give the information needed for renovations of Wilmington's historic properties.

The October 5, 1961 edition of the Town Crier of Wilmington noted that:

Mel's Texaco Station opened for business at 275 Main Street (opposite DeMoulas).

In the North Wilmington Bowling League Bob Brisbois of Polcaros had a 517 three string total; Lloyd Bender of the Jaycees managed 491 and Joe Keough also of Polcaros was third in line with a three string total of 488.

Elias Country Store was offering Mac apples at 2.49 a bushel; lamb at 29 cents a pound and corned beef at 49 cents a pound.

Dr. Elene Farello, head of WHS Science Department and Irene Sharpe, assistant guidance counselor were guest speakers at the Business and Professional Women's Club in Wakefield.

Harry Wiseman of Jones Avenue was elected president of the Salem Street Synogogue; Ben Weinberg was to serve as vice president; Morris Modelle was named secretary; Leslie Weiner, treasurer and the board of directors would include Philip Glassman and Nathan Mednick.

New to Wilmington, a member of the DeFrancisco family suffered sudden illness and turned to a neighbor for assistance. The neighbor summoned Dr. MacDougall who in turn took complete charge of the situation with the patient in the ambulance within minutes. A letter signed by Anthony DeFrancisco praised the actions of his neighbor, Dr. MacDougall and the ambulance crew.

Bruce MacDonald was serving as secretary of the board of appeals.

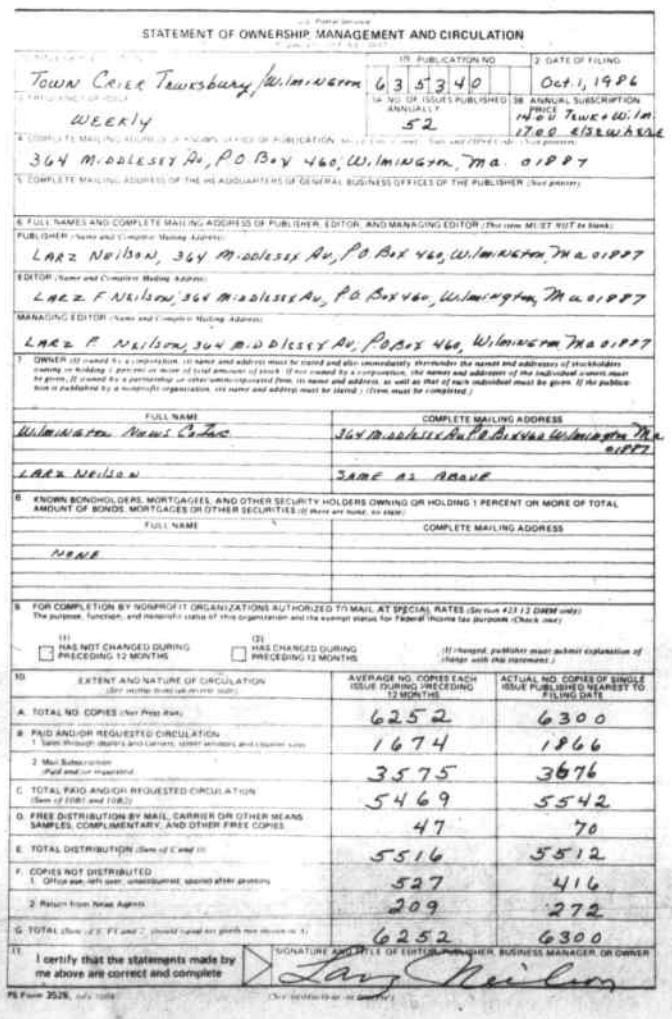

The First National was offering steak at 99 cents a pound; celery at 23 cents a bunch and cabbage at 5 cents a pound.

The water commissioners had scheduled a public hearing on the installation of a water main in Butters Row from Main Street to Chestnut Street.

The Whitefield School PTA was making final plans for a civil defense identification tag program.

Holding 10,000 square feet in the warehouse "which we must clear out." Polcaro Bros. was offering all new, domestic stock insulation at three and a half cents a square foot.

TV fire drills on Tuesday

House fires are generally unplanned events, but there is some planning which families can do which will help them in case there is a fire.

The Wilmington Fire Department is urging residents to participate in a home fire drill, which will be broadcast on Evening Magazine on Tuesday, Oct. 7 at 7:30 p.m. The fire drill is being held in conjunction with National Fire Prevention Week.

The department has released a list of steps for planning for such an emergency.

1. Have a family meeting; appoint a person in charge.

2. Draw a floor plan, indicating exits via stairways. Never use an elevator in a fire. Keep passageways clear of all obstructions , including bicycles.

3. Make sure all family members know the fire department emergency number. (In Wilmington, it is 658-3200. In Tewksbury, it is 851-7355.) Each phone should have a sticker listing emergency numbers.

4. As a group, check both ways out from every room. Make sure doors close tightly, and windows can be opended easily, and are free of obstructions such as furniture or air conditioners. On upper floors, have escape ladders (U.L. tested.)

5. Point out and test all smoke detectors, so everyone knows the sound of the alarm. There should be at least one detector on each sleeping level of the home and outside all sleeping areas. Test all detectors weekly.

6. Plan for one place where everybody will meet for a head count once they are out of the building. The place should be a permanent object or structure. A telephone pole with a street light is an excellent choice.

Once the head count is taken, one person should notify the fire department by a nearby phone. Don't go back into the building for any reason.

The caller should give the address of the burning building and the nearest cross street, as well as information on anyone who may be trapped inside. Stay on the line until the fire department has all the information.

If a fire alarm box is used, stay by the box until the firefighters arrive.

Now to practice! Tune to Channel 4 on Tuesday, Oct. 7 at 7:30 p.m.

Step One: Appoint a person to monitor your home fire drill.

Step Two: Have that person test one of the smoke detectors.

Step Three: Get everyone out of the house to your pre-planned meeting place. (Remember, in a real fire, get out and stay out.)

Also remember to:

•Move quickly but carefully to avoid injury and yell fire so that everyone knows.

•Test any closed door from bottom to top for heat.

•Place shoulder against door and keep head to one side. Open slowly.

•If the door is cool, exit quickly and stay out.

•If the door is warm or hot, use the second exit. Crawl low in smoke.

•If trapped on upper floors, wait for the fire department. Hang out a bedsheet or anything to help you be seen.

Step Four: At your meeting place, the drill monitor should make sure everyone is there and report on how quickly you evacuated the building. If this were a real fire, the person picked to call the fire department would do so now.

Step Five: Talk over any problems that occurred. Adjust your fire escape plan before your next monthly drill.

Copies of "For Kids' Sake -- Home Fire Drill" may be picked up at the Wilmington Fire Station. Any questions on home fire drills may be directed to the fire station at 658-3346.

Board of Appeals is too easy

by Bill Conlon

Tewksbury has an "easy" board of appeals, or so it would seem. Most requests placed before the board are granted, unless the variance meets with excessive pressure from neighbors or is demonstrably detrimental to the neighborhood.

Take for example the last round of public hearings, held Monday night. Out of 11 variance requests made to the appeals board, two were tabled for further study and the rest granted, some with conditions placed upon the approvals. None of the requests were denied.

Admittedly, many of the variance requests are granted for good reason. Say a house is discovered to be a few inches too close to the road, violating the setback requirement. Banks are doing their real estate homework these days, making it more likely that any building violation would come to light during a re-financing or second mortgage application.

The cost to move the house and its foundation those few inches would be incredible, and a variance from the appeals board is the best and cheapest alternative. The board, in fact, frequently grants these requests immediately after hearing the public discussion, while more complex issues are not voted until the end of the session.

But other requests made before the board are not so cut-and-dried. One of the more common requests is for permission to split a lot in half, for the construction of an additional home on the property. These requests are all too frequently granted.

A town zoning by-law passed in 1956 mandates one-acre house lots, but this ruling has been by-passed frequently by the appeals board. Town planner Charles Frederiksen said the purpose of the appeals board is to correct the imperfections of the zoning by-laws, but he described the precedent of splitting acre lots as "starting a wildfire."

One of the guidelines for the granting of a variance request is supposed to be a demonstrable hardship. This hardship need not be much, if the workings of the current appeals board is any indication. One attorney representing a man who recently wanted to split a one-acre lot even proposed that the "lack of buildable land in the suburbs" constituted a suitable economic hardship.

To find out why the appeals board is so generous, the Tewksbury Board of Selectmen asked a representative to appear at this week's meeting of the selectmen. Former appeals board chairman Lou Carciofi appeared before the board to answer questions, most of them from Selectman Jay Kelley.

Selectman Kelley said he had done some research on the appeals board's past decisions. The number of variance requests has been rising, Kelley said, and some 80 percent of lot-splitting requests had been granted over the past year.

Kelley said variance requests should be granted in exceptional cases only, not because there is a lack of good enough reasons to deny.

Carciofi noted that each case before the appeals board is handled on its own merit, as well it should.

But still, the hardships have not been adequately shown. Far too many one-acre lots have been split, and frequently the only demonstrable hardship has been on the neighborhoods themselves. Population density is rising in Tewksbury, and the board of appeals deserves much of the blame.

point of view

The backbone of the school system

by Arlene Surprenant

Both as a person and an administrator, Robert Horan is held in high esteem. Last week, the Wilmington School Committee elected to show its appreciation and assure that the superintendent would stay in the system by giving him a substantial increase in salary.

Mr. Horan deserves recognition for the professional way he has handled the job, to date, and for breathing life into a sluggish system. In little over a year, he has instilled confidence and enthusiasm and has been a visible administrator able to make the hard decisions. He has brought top talent to Wilmington. He has moved personnel around to give them a chance to show what they can do. The town needs his knowledge and strong leadership ability. To lose him is unthinkable.

However, the decision to give the superintendent an $11,100 pay increase to put him on a par with administrators in other towns sent shock waves through many in the room that night. Many people questioned both the size of the raise and the fact that it was granted after little more than a year in the position.

Other town officials, most with more experience and equal if not greater responsibilities, now take second place to Mr. Horan on salary level. Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski, for instance, makes a base salary of $51,195. He, too, juggles myriad responsibilities and handles increasing demands on his time, all without the help of an assistant manager, something which is long overdue.

Police Chief Bobby Stewart reportedly has been on the job as chief since 1980 and makes a base salary of $46,516. Fire Chief Dan Wandell makes $49,077. Though, like the town manager, they are allotted travel expenses, they too handle large departments and carry enormous responsibilities.

Perhaps the hardest part for this writer to accept is that our teachers -- the backbone of our system -- may not get the same deal. For too long, their dedication and commitment to quality education for our children has been overlooked on a monetary level.

During the 1985-86 school year, Wilmington teachers earned a starting salary of $14,582. Out of 15 surrounding towns, only Tewksbury was lower with a starting salary of $14,468. Other starting salaries range from $15,283 (Dracut) to $18,139 (Bedford).

During the same year, Wilmington teachers earned a top doctorate salary of $29,490. Only Lowell was lower with a salary of $28,219. Other top doctorate salaries ranged from $29,884 (Tewksbury) to $35,375 (Andover).

In the interest of fairness, good teachers, too, should be on a par with surrounding towns and rewarded in order to keep them within our system.

Some people will complain that teachers don't work 12 months a year and therefore don't earn their salaries. Only someone who's been in their shoes can understand the daily pressures, the endless hours put in preparing lessons and grading papers, the work late into the night and on weekends, the struggle to further their own education, and the challenge to motivate students increasingly turned off to any kind of learning and advancement. Teachers deserve and need our support.

Currently, negotiations are underway to come to an agreement on a teachers' contract for the 1986-87 school year. Both WTA President Mathew Joyce and school committeeman Mitch Spiris are optimistic about this year's bargaining sessions. Mr. Joyce told this writer the bargaining was "initially, very positive" and he and Mr. Spiris suggested teachers' salaries may be brought up to par this year.

"No one's asking for top dollar but we'd certainly like to have parity with surrounding communities," said Mr. Joyce, calling fellow teachers in Wilmington "dedicated, well trained, and conscientious."

While many towns took advantage of the chance to set minimum salary at $18,000 under Chap. 188, the Wilmington School Committee declined the opportunity. According to Mitch Spiris, "the consensus seemed to be, if you build it in you're stuck with it even after the state funds stop (after three years)."

Now, however, there's a good chance a new contract will provide parity with nearby towns. Such a positive step would go a long way toward assuring that Wilmington Public Schools will retain quality people and attract new blood into a system which, through the combined efforts of the school committee and top administrators like Robert Horan, is steadily being turned into something vital and a source of pride.

Appeals board grants unusual request

by Bill Conlon

An unusual variance request was approved by the Tewksbury Board of Appeals this week which will allow the construction of just four single family residences on a 28-acre plot of land off Andover Street.

According to land surveyor Robert Morris, who represented DiPalma, Sullivan & DeCarolis before the appeals board, the 28-acre plot would have just four single family residences.

The lot, located off Andover Street, will be divided into parcels of 1.8, 3, 4.6 and 7.7 acres. Each of the four lots will have just one house and a common driveway to Andover Street. An additional parcel of 10.9 acres, mostly wetlands according to Morris, would be held jointly by the four homeowners.

Morris's request was for a frontage variance for the parcel. Town by-laws state that each house must have a minimum frontage on a major street, and the plot plan submitted by Morris did not meet the minimum requirements.

"We could put in 10 to 15 cluster zoning lots on this parcel if we wanted," Morris told the board and audience. Morris stated that if the land were all "high and dry," as many as 24 cluster lots could be placed on the property.

Former appeals board chairman Lou Carciofi told the audience that any parcel of 12 acres or more could qualify for cluster zoning.

Morris said, however, that the four landowners wanted their privacy and would not subdivide their lots in the future. The appeals board placed a condition upon the variance to insure that there would be no further divisions of the property.

According to Morris, the four homeowners would plow and care for the joint driveway and the town would not be responsible for it. The surveyor also stated that municipal sewers would service the four homes.

Questions were raised about the 10.9 acre "common" lot at the rear of the property, but Morris stated that joint land ownership was not unusual. He also said that it would be almost impossible for any one of the four homeowners to sell their portion of the parcel.

After listening to the rest of the scheduled public hearings, the appeals board unanimously agreed to grant the frontage variance request, with the stipulation that there would be no further subdividing of the plots.

Also on Monday evening, the appeals board granted a variance request to Arnold O. Martel, Jr. for the subdivision of a 45,000 square foot lot on Mississippi Drive for the construction of a single family residence. Appeals board member Charles Gaffney abstained from voting because his brother, Attorney Jay Gaffney, was representing Martel.

Attorney Gaffney also represented Robert F. McSweeney, trustee for Aegis Realty Trust, in a request for a variance to subdivide a 1.28 acre lot on McLaren Road to construct two additional single family dwellings. The appeals board approved the request, again with Charles Gaffney abstaining.

A request by Jo-Ann Ruiter of Pringle Street for a waiver to the side yard setback requirements was also approved by the Appeals Board. Once more Gaffney had to abstain, again for the same reason.

A request for a special permit and variance from Tewksbury Center Mobil was heard by the appeals board, asking that the service station be allowed to sell up to five used cars on the lot. According to neighbor Joanne Joyce, the station had received a variance from the appeals board some 10 years ago, and appeals board orders for a fence and shrubbery separating the property were not carried out. The board voted to table the request for further study. Again Attorney Jay Gaffney represented the applicant.

A request for a front yard setback waiver for Deborah Bourassa of Shawsheen Street was unanimously approved by the appeals board, this time with Charles Gaffney able to take part in the voting.

Stephen and Anna Papleacos made their plea for a variance to have their leaky garage torn down and a new two-story garage built in its place. The appeals board agreed to grant the request, provided that the upper story of the garage not be used as a residential area.

A request by William and Donna Leccese for a waiver to the setback requirement for their in-ground pool on Finn Street was granted by the appeals board. The pool was supposedly built within ten feet of the adjoining property.

A variance request to subdivide a lot at Patten and Whipple Roads was granted to the estate of the late Ada M. Graney. The 50,000 square foot lot will be divided into three parcels, one facing Whipple Road and the other two on Patten. The existing residence on Patten Road will remain standing.

And finally, a request by Ted MacKenzie for the subdivision of a lot on Valley Road was tabled by the appeals board, pending further study. According to the discussions made, the lot had earlier been broken off from a bigger lot and the appeals board wanted to check for any stipulations placed upon the earlier variance request.

SELLING MUTUAL FUND SHARES

There may be unusual tax ramifications when you sell mutual fund shares. For instance, what seems a short term loss on a fund's net asset value may only reflect the payment of a long-term gain. Taxwise, the gain must be offset against any loss, and can be wiped out.

If you have kept good records -- filed away the fund's reports -- you may be able to save on taxes when you sell by selling the highest-price shares first. You'll have to be able to identify those purchased on a certain date at a certain price.

You can also sell shares by the "single category" method, dividing the total cost by the number of shares, or by the "double category" method, separating shares into a short-term pool and a long-term pool. Tax reform may wipe out the difference.

Be sure not to pay taxes twice on the same shares. If some of the gain in your holdings represents dividends on which you've already paid taxes, be sure to subtract that from your total gain.

We'll help you save on taxes at:

Wilmington club to present cooking lesson

The newly reorganized Friends and Neighbors Club of Wilmington has announced a cooking lesson open to the public Wednesday, October 2, 8 p.m. at the First Baptist Church.

The class will be given by Carol Demetriades of the "Cook's Concern" of Salem, N.H., a wonderful and enthusiastic cook who has visited us before. This time around she will be tempting participants with filo dough for an evening of Mediterranean magic.

The Friends and Neighbors Club offers fun and fellowship to old and new residents of Wilmington with social events, crafts, whist, play groups and other activities.

Second grade mascot The Wildwood Street leopard has a new home, a new name and some new friends in a second grade classroom at the Wildwood School. With "Big Boy Tigger" and the students is student teacher Kathy Rinehart.

New friends, new name for discarded leopard

The tale of the Wildwood Street leopard has a happy ending.

Last week, the Town Crier featured a picture of a toy stuffed leopard on top of some trash barrels on Wildwood Street in Wilmington.

Its destiny wasn't the dump. That same leopard now occupies a position of honor in a second grade classroom at the Wildwood School.

The leopard had been the companion of a four-year-old girl on Morse Avenue. The girl's mother, however, decided that the leopard had to go. Apparently she was tired of cleaning up the styrofoam pellets which were leaking from one of the paws.

She knew that if she put it out for trash collection in front of her own house, her daughter would see it. So, she took the leopard to Wildwood Street and put it on top of someone else's rubbish.

A Wilmington firefighter saw the leopard, and called the Town Crier. The editor hurried over, and took a few pictures.

Shortly thereafter, along came Eileen Lemieux, a second grade teacher in the Wildwood School. She took the leopard to school where it was adopted by the students in her class. They named it "Big Boy Tigger."

The mother of the four-year old figured that the leopard had gone to the incinerator. But then she picked up the Town Crier -- and there it was!

So far, the girl has not missed her leopard. But next year the youngster will start school, at the Wildwood School.

Breast cancer screening at Health Center

Two Choate-Symmes Health Services physicians will head a team of medical and health care professionals in offering a free breast cancer screening on Tuesday, Oct. 7

Suetta M.B. Tenney, M.D., internist, and Bernard Wisniewski, M.D., surgeon, will conduct the screening at the Regional Health Center in Wilmington. They will be joined by Bridget McCane-Duerr, Community Health Education Department, who will provide an audio-visual program and take-home informational materials on breast self-examination.

The screening is the first in a series presented by the Choate-Symmes Women's Health Program. The screenings and lectures are designed to address women's unique needs. A goal is to help women achieve complete physical, mental and social well being, and not merely avoid disease and infirmity.

The breast cancer screening will be by appointment from 5 to 8 p.m. To make an appointment or to obtain more information, call Community Health Education at the Regional Health Center in Wilmington, 657-3910, Ext. 567.

The HUB Account® tips the scales in your favor...

An innovative investment system of checks and balances.

✓*High Interest Rates and Unlimited Checking
A Hub Account offers you the complete flexibility and ease of four accounts in one. If your balance increases, you do not have to open another account to earn the maximum interest. For example, $0-$1,000 continues to earn the NOW Account rate, while $1,001-$7,500 begins to earn the Super NOW rate. If your balance reaches $15,001, four interest rates are operating to your high interest advantage.

✓+Four Interest Rates at Work in your One Hub Account

COMFED'S HUB ACCOUNT
DEPOSIT LEVELS	INTEREST RATES*
For your first $0 to $1,000	NOW Account Rate
For your next $1,001 to $7,500	SuperNOW Account Rate
For your next $7,501 to $15,000	Money Market Rate
For your next $15,001 to $100,000	18 Month 12.5 Rate

*Rates based on the COMFED Index. COMFED reserves the right to adjust the interest rate and deposit levels at any time. Notification of any change appears on your monthly statements.

✓+Unlimited Checking
What's more, Hub allows you to write as many checks as you want—whenever you want. An unlimited checking account means privilege without restriction.

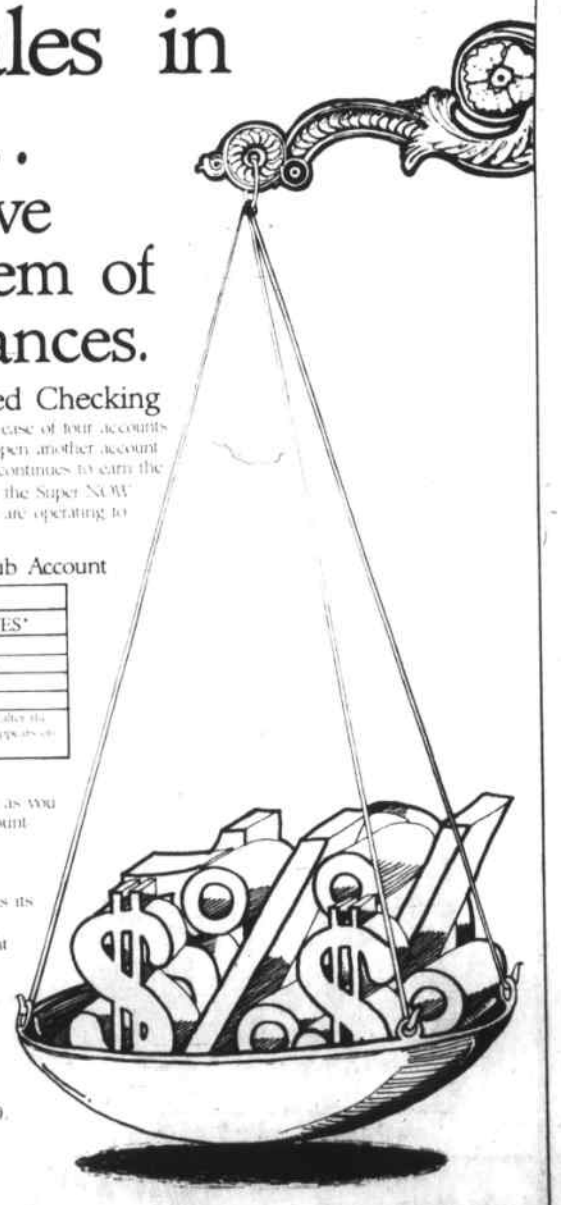

✓+Instant Liquidity/No Withdrawal Penalties
What many investors like best about a Hub Account is its instant liquidity. You can withdraw funds at any time without penalty. No more nagging fears that you might need cash but can't get it without forfeiting interest.

✓+Plus...Convenience Through Check Safekeeping
ComFed keeps your checks safe and in order. (Copies for tax or other purposes are available on request.)

✓+100% Federally Insured (FSLIC) Up to $100,000.

✓+$10 bonus

✓+Waive First Year Service Fee for a new Hub Account

72 years

Charles and Gertrude Baldwin of Jones Avenue, Wilmington celebrated their 72nd wedding anniversary last week. They were married on Sept. 22, 1904 in the Immaculate Conception Church in Everett. Their children are Dorothy Baldwin, Charles J. Baldwin, Ruth Lynch and Frances Nolan, all of Wilmington, and Marie O'Connell of Lynn. They have lived in Wilmington for more than 50 years.

Job Club to meet

"I had been very discouraged in getting started looking for a job. My self-confidence was at a very low ebb" says Marion Norton of Burlington, who attended Job Club last spring conducted by Minuteman Home Care.

Job Clubs provide peer support and knowledge of today's job search process for people age 55 and older. Starting October 15 in Burlington from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., the Job Club will meet to cover interest and skills assessment, interviewing techniques, resume writing and job search strategies.

"Joining with other people in my age group was just the motivation I needed to get out and find a job" says Norton who is now employed full time and loves her job at Computervision in Burlington. Through her participation in the Job Club, Marion gained self-confidence, learned how to assess the skills she developed through her life's experiences and how to market herself to an employer.

The Job Club will be held at the Burlington Town Hall and is open to people 55 or older seeking full or part-time employment. There is no charge for participation but preregistration is necessary. For Job Club information and registration, you may call the Older Workers Program at Minuteman Home Care Corporation at 861-6200.

Surprise catch

Dave Lynch wasn't at his office for his surprise birthday party, so two of his co-workers tracked him down at a Tewksbury Rotary Club meeting. Lynch was finally cornered at the Anchor Restaurant by co-workers Jean Collins (left) and Norma Hernandez, who brought his cake along with them to the Rotary gathering.

The gala event was held at the Tewksbury - Wilmington Elks Lodge on South Street.

Esther Smith

Early in September a celebration honoring Esther Smith of Woburn Street, Wilmington, on her 90th birthday was attended by more than 25 friends and relatives.

The gala event, engineered by Ms. Smith's niece and nephew, Sylvia and Charlie Bowman of High Street began when a stretch limousine arrived at her door, to take a surprised Esther Smith to the Town Lyne House for a birthday dinner.

Among the guests taking part in the festivities were the guest of honor's brother Norman and his wife Abby of Suncook, N.H.; their daughter Louise Doyle; her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bowman of Lords Valley, Penn.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schober, also of Lords Valley and formerly of Longview Road, Wilmington. Other guests came from Portland, Maine, Villanova, Penn., Florida and Wilmington.

Prior to retirement Ms. Smith served as a registered nurse for 45 years, most of that time in New England Hospital for Women and Children.

A few days after the gala birthday party, several of her nursing collegues took her to dinner at the Pillar House in Weston, also honoring the lady's 90th birthday.

Rev. Thomas F. Dean

New minister chosen for Wilmington Congregational Church

The Wilmington Congregational Church has selected a new minister. The Rev. Thomas Fowler Dean will assume his new post in November.

He replaces the Rev. William Murdoch, who left in June.

The Rev. Dean preached the sermon at the church on Sept. 21, after which a church meeting voted him as the new minister.

A native of Shrewsbury, he is a graduate of Clark University and holds a Masters of Divinity degree from the Andover Newton Theological Seminary. He presently serves as pastor of the First Congregational Church of Windham, Conn., where he was ordained in 1981.

He is married to Mai Khue Dean, and they have one son, Benjamin Noel, 21 months old.

Wilmington may pull out of MV League

The Wilmington High School Athletic Department is planning to withdraw from the Merrimack Valley League in the near future, according to Athletic Director Jim Gillis.

Gillis told school committee members last week such a move will give school teams a better competitive edge. He is looking at the possibility of Wilmington joining the Cape Ann League or forming its own league. The proposed move will be an agenda item for a future committee meeting.

Partners for Excellence

"Partners for Excellence: a Conference for Industry-Education Partnerships:" will be held November 4, 1986 at the Northeast Regional Education Center in North Reading from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. This conference, co-sponsored by the Community Education Office of the Massachusetts Department of Education, and Associated Industries of Massachusetts, the Massachusetts Business Roundtable, the Smaller Business Association of New England, the Massachusetts Association of School Committees, the Massachusetts Association of School Superintendents, the Massachusetts Board of Regents of Higher Education, and the Executive Office for Educational Affairs, will bring together representatives of business and education who are interested in increasing their understanding of school-business collaboration and its potential for schools and communities.

Educators and business leaders are concerned about the problems of the shrinking workforce and the preparation of today's young people for the world of work. This conference will provide business people, educators, and representatives from the community with information on a range of partnership models that address these issues, their initiation, their management and coordination, and the benefits that participate in these collaborations has for the partners.

This conference will open with remarks from a representative of the Massachusetts Department of Education and a keynote address from Robert Schwartz, Special Assistant to the Governor, Executive Office for Educational Affairs. Two sets of two 90 minute concurrent workshop sessions will be led by business people and educators who have had experience with partnerships over time and are knowledgeable about their strengths and potential. In addition, a model for understanding, strengthening, developing, designing, and evaluating partnerships will be presented by members of the statewide Extended Committee on Industry-Education Partnerships, who will assist conference participants with applying this model to their own partnership development activity.

The conference is limited to 70 participants, with priority given to the first 35 representatives from both the business and education sectors. This conference is one of six that will be held throughout the state. The dates and locations of the other conferences are as follows:

Tuesday, October 21, Southeast Regional Education Center, Lakeville.

Wednesday, October 22, Greater Springfield Regional Education Center, West Springfield.

Wednesday, November 5, Taconic High School, Pittsfield.

Tuesday, November 18, Clarke Middle School, Lexington.

Wednesday, November 19, Central Massachusetts Regional Education Center, West Boylston.

For registration information for any of these conferences, contact: Susan Freedman, coordinator of community education, Bureau of Student, Community and Adult Services, Massachusetts Department of Education, 1385 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass. 02169; (617)770-7581.

DRC names new president

John S. Anderegg Jr., Chief Executive Officer of Dynamics Research Corporation of Wilmington announced September 25 that Albert Rand has been named President and Chief Operating Officer. Rand, 59, was formerly senior vice president and general manager of the Systems Division of DRC. He has been associated with the company for 26 years.

Anderegg will continue as chief executive officer and chairman of the board. He has been president of DRC since its inception in 1955.

Anderegg has said that he intends to propose that Mr. Rand be given the title of Chief Executive Officer at about the time of the company's annual meeting next spring. Rand, he said, has been a major force in guiding the company to its present strong position.

DRC has been having an excellent year, Anderegg said. In the last two weeks of September the company received two new contracts totaling $36,000,000. Part was for the US Air Force Electronic Systems Division, and part for the Strategic Defense Initiative Organization.

Albert Rand

Sales for the year will be over $70,000,000, a new record for Dynamics Research.

Gail Schneider, R.N. physicians services coordinator

A new physician services coordinator has been appointed at the Regional Health Center in Wilmington (RHCW), according to RHCW Vice President and Director Nicholas A. Balog.

Gail Schneider, R.N., coordinates the Health Center's support staff in the physician office areas. She oversees the staffing, hiring and supervision, and is responsible for ensuring the smooth functioning of the daily activities of the physician areas.

Previously, Schneider was affiliated with Harvard Community Health Plan, where she taught and participated in research on breast self-examination.

Her clinical nursing experience includes three and a half years in the U.S. Army. Ms.Schneider has also been involved in health care education.

She holds a bachelor of science degree in nursing from the University of Wisconsin and a master's degree in public health from Boston University.

Schneider replaces Kathleen Barnes, R.N., who has been named RHCW assistant director.

Robert Vozzella honored

Robert E. Vozzella of Fairmont Avenue, Wilmington, director of international cooperative education at Northeastern University in Boston, received the Don MacLaren Award Plaque, which recognizes high achievement and continuing commitment to the enhancement of international cooperative education.

The award is presented biannually at each World Conference on Cooperative Education. It is a memorial to Don MacLaren, who was public affairs manager for Air Canada.

Vozzella accepted the plaque August 13 at the Canadian Association for Cooperative Education's Annual Awards Luncheon held at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver.

Northeastern University is the world leader in cooperative education. After the freshman year, Northeastern undergraduates alternate quarters of full-time study with quarters of paid work in fields relevant to their majors. Northeastern offers full and part-time programs in arts and sciences, business, computer science, criminal justice, engineering, teaching and counseling, law, nursing, and pharmacy and allied health professions.

"Improving Manufacturing Productivity"

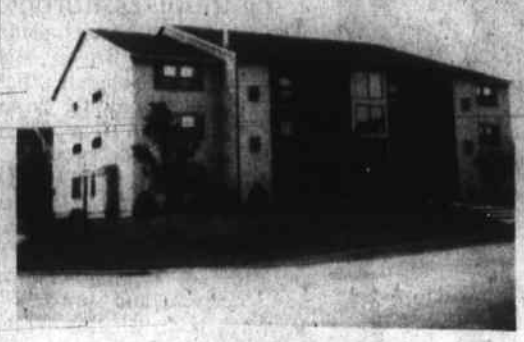

A breakfast lecture series devoted to the topic of boosting manufacturing productivity is being conducted for industry managers this fall beginning in October.

"Improving Manufacturing Productivity" will run from 8 to 10 a.m. for five Tuesdays starting October 28 at Bentley College. Experts in the field will present proven techniques for increasing productivity and discuss, among other subjects, how to implement automated manufacturing systems successfully.

Featured industry speakers include Ken McGuire, author of 'Impressions from our Most Worthy Competitor'; John Nappi, managers of industrial engineering at Applicon-Schlumberger; Clayton Blaylock, president of New Vision; and Steven King, president of King Associates.

Sponsored jointly by Bentley's School of Continuing and Professional Studies and the Middlesex County Chapter of the American Production and Inventory Control Society, the series cost is $40 per session, or $175 for all five breakfast lectures.

For more information, call the School of Continuing and Professional Studies at 891-2135.

Knights of Columbus Annual Charity Drive on Columbus Day

"The Massachusetts Knights of Columbus have a simple philosophy that every child, regardless of race or religion, deserves to live as normal a life as possible. That's why we strive to help the handicapped, retarded and blind in Massachusetts get the most they can from life," announced Grand Knight Anthony E. Krzeminski of Fr. Croke Council in Wilmington.

" Since 1977 our members have conducted this annual charity drive and once again we will be out in force on Columbus Day Weekend standing in front of local stores and shopping districts soliciting the kind contributions of passersbys. We will be easily identifiable by the red and yellow aprons we will be wearing the words " Help retarded Children" emblazoned on both the front and back." He continued , residents of this area have been very generous and we Knight of Columbus are extemely grateful."

"Old Ironsides" celebrates 189th Birthday

The month of October marks the 189th birthday of the launching of "Old Ironsides," and the USS Constitution Museum is throwing a five- day bash!

In celebration of the event, the USS Constitution Museum, located in The Charlestown Navy Yard, has invited a colorful collection of New England musicians, craftsmen and artisans to come down to the navy yard over the weekends of October 11-13 (Columbus Day weekend) and October 18-19 to perform for the public.

Model ship builders, scrimshaw artists, and coopers will be on hand to share their expertise; lessons and demonstrations in knot-tying and wood-carving techniques will be available; and contra dancers will demonstrate traditional folk dances, including the Hull Victory Dance. Isaac Hull, USS Constitution's most famous captain, commanded her to victory over HMS Guerriere during The War of 1812. Finally, the Marine Detachment will present military drills, formations, and cannon drills from the 1797-1820 period of American history. Admission to the museum is $2 for adults, $1.50 for senior citizens, $1 for ages 6-16, and free for children under age six. for more information call (617) 227-6010.

WLWV co-sponsor Coastweek '86

As part of the nationwide celebration of Coastweek '86, the Wilmington League of Women Voters will co-sponsor with the Ipswich River Watershed Association and other area Leagues, a tour of the Ipswich River watershed on Sunday, October 5, from 1 to 5 p.m.

The event will begin at the field house, Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute, Rt. 62 Danvers, with the slide presentation, "One County's Water," and an orientation. This will be followed by a tour of points of interest beginning at the headwaters of the Ipswich in Wilmington and ending where the river becomes tidal in the town of Ipswich. The group will return to Essex Aggie for a buffet supper and discussion.

Endorsed by more than 250 organizations, Coastweek '86 is a theme around which groups, agencies and individuals work to foster awareness of the value of our nation's coasts and inland waterways. The Ipswich River is a public drinking water source for approximately 400,000 people within the basin and nearby communities which withdraw water from the river. It is also an important recreational resource for people from all over the North Shore.

Protection of this critical resource requires the cooperation of all the communities within the basin and other user communities. The Coastweek '86 tour will provide an opportunity for interested persons to learn more about the river and its many uses as well as the need for regional cooperation in protecting this valuable natural resource.

For tour reservations, contact the Ipswich River Watershed Association at 774-8927 or send a check for $5.00 to "IRWA," 562 Maple St., Hathorne, Ma. 10937. The $5.00 donation includes the tour and buffet supper.

Wildcat wrestling

The Wilmington High School defense attempts to pry the ball from the grasp of a Billerica ballcarrier early in Saturday's 27-14 defeat. The Wildcats came up with two touchdowns late in the contest.

Wilmac wrapup

Astros look to improve

The Wilmac Astros concluded their initial season in the Inter-City League with a 3-24-2 record and an eighth place finish.

Jim Adamson (second baseman from Winthrop and Miami Dade Community College) led the club in hitting with a .350 average and in triples with two. Left fielder Tony Statuto (Hamilton Quinnsigamond Community College) led the Astros in four categories- RBI's, nine; sacrifice flies, three; homeruns, five; and doubles with four while hitting .339 in 21 games.

Veteran outfielder Jim Kennedy batted .338 and paced the Wilmac Club with 24 hits, 14 walks, and unfortunately 25 strikeouts. Jim also tied Statuto with four doubles and drove in 13 runs.

Utility player Jim Gillis (Winthrop) hit .269 in 13 games, while playing six different positions. Veterans Dave Woods (Wilmington and Springfield College, .218); Serge Clivio (Medford and Merrimack College .169); and Barry Rosen (Tewksbury and UMass Amherst .229) had off years.

Defensively, Manager Bob Dicey's club displayed some inexperience, committing a league leading 72 errors.

During the first half of the season, the Astros used 26 players in their quest to find the right combinations.

A young pitching staff compiled a 6.12 ERA. Control was a big factor in many of the losses, as the Astro hurlers also led the league issuing 154 bases on balls.

Jay Hanafin (Wilmington) made nine appearances, including six starts while compiling a 1-5 record. Jay led the club in IP (37.3), hits (50), runs (41), BB (29) and SO (30).

Mark Bartnick (Wilmington and Middlesex Community College) appeared in the most games- 10, which included six starts for a 0-4 record.

Lefthander Mike Overlan (Melrose and Stonehill College) turned in three very gutsy games late in the season enroute to a 0-3 slate. Tim Budrewicz (Winchester and Brandeis College) went 1-3 on the season, with the highlight being a two-hitter against the Somerville Elms in late June.

The outlook for 1987 is optimistic in that the players will have gained a year of experience in the tough Intercity League, considering that 10 of the 14 losses in 1986 were by three runs or less.

With the addition of three or four veteran players, the Astros look forward to making the playoffs in 1987.

Redmen battle Wildcats

Tewksbury's Tim Quinn (7) gets the attack started in a 1-1 MVC tie with the Wilmington Wildcats Saturday morning.

Middling action

The attack was directed to the middle of the field for much of Saturday morning's 1-1 Tewksbury-Wilmington standoff. Ray Mercuri scored the Wildcats' lone goal of the contest.

TMHS girls' cross country

TMHS girls mighty force

The Tewksbury High School varsity girls' cross-country team is proving to be a mighty force in the Merrimack Valley Conference this season. Led by team captain Krissie Connor, this solid team has won four meets in a row - all of them decisively - and seems to be getting stronger each week. Last Wednesday, Tewksbury defeated both Lawrence and Methuen, 18-41 over Lawrence and 24-35 over Methuen.

Depth is extremely important in cross-country, and the Tewksbury girls' team has a dozen runners who can contribute to a team victory. To make the picture even brighter, the team's front runners, Krissie Connor and Paula Torode, are always right up in the lead in every race.

The tri-meet at Methuen was the first time that Krissie was anywhere but in the lead. With a half mile to go, she was in third place, over 100 yards behind the two Methuen girls who were running outstanding races. With a determined finish however, Krissie was able to overtake one of them and grab a hard earned second place.

With Krissie showing the way, the rest of the team ran very hard and got the places necessary to win the meet.

Paula Torode took fourth with her usual dependable performance; Sue McLaughlin, ever-improving this season, finished right behind Paula in fifth; little Chrissy Frotten, running gutsy as always, grabbed seventh; and freshman Rachel Smith, making spectacular improvement, finished up the TMHS scoring with a beautiful ninth place performance.

Tewksbury blanks Hillies, 5-0

The TMHS field hockey girls got their most recent win of the season by defeating Haverhill, 5-0.

Senior forward Kim Dziadosz scored two quick unassisted goals to start the game off. Tracy Danner scored the next goal off a pass from Tricia Censullo. Halfback Jeanne Muise made a nice pass into the circle to Lynne Ploof, who then scored the last goal of the first half. Tricia Censullo scored the only goal unassisted in the second half.

The Redmen scored their third shutout of the season by defeating Andover, 1-0.

Despite many offensive threats in the first half by Chris Blake, Karen Corbett and Lynne Ploff, the Tewksbury girls came up scoreless.

Eight minutes into the second half, Lynne Ploof sent a perfect pass across the goal to Chris Blake, who scored the only goal of the game. Halfbacks Lori Nunziato, Karen Corbett, Jeanne Muise and Karen Toth did a good job supporting the forward line.

The Tewksbury girls battled Andover to a scoreless tie to end the week. The offense got off six shots, with four of them coming from senior forward Traci Danner. The defense, led by Karen Corbett and Lori Nunziato, played very well and contained the aggressive Methuen forward line. Junior goalie Cathy Driscoll made some outstanding saves, including a stick save on a penalty stroke.

The Redmen play Wilmington at home Wednesday are at Chelmsford Friday and at Dracut next Tuesday.

Fall program

The Tewksbury Youth Soccer League is proud of the progress of its' entry in the Under-16 Northern Middlesex League. The girls, hastily assembled, have emerged from a 0-2 start to win their game Sunday over a tough Lowell team.

Coach Jim Angelo cited the entire team for the winning effort. Standouts were Kristen Halloren and Julie Hunt, with special recognition to goalie Jane Carey, who stopped a penalty shot within the last two minutes of play.

Assistant coaches Pat Moriarty and Scott Angelo also cited the play of Terry Reiss and Karry Halloren in the first two games.

Streak snapped

Tewksbury High School coach Bob Aylward has some words of advice for senior lineman Mike Fitzpatrick. The Redmen look to get back on the winning track Saturday after falling to Lowell last week.

TMHS freshmen topple Lowell, 8-0

After initially losing to Lawrence 8-0 in a pre-season scrimmage, the Tewksbury High School freshmen football team got on track with its' first victory by defeating the tough Lowell High School freshmen, 8-6 Friday afternoon.

Statistics showed that the Tewksbury defense, spearheaded by Gino Bruno, Glenn Harris, Doug Welton, Bill Doherty and Shawn Dillon, was the difference in Tewksbury's opener.

After Lowell scored in the first quarter when Tewksbury's Jeff Rideout had trouble punting the ball from his own 28 yard line, it was the Tewksbury defense that prevented the extra point attempt, giving Lowell an early first quarter lead, 6-0.

In the second quarter, the Tewksbury offense failed to put a substantial drive together, causing quarterback Sean Wilson to scramble, setting up what was to be Tewksbury's first points of the early football season.

On third and 14 from the Tewksbury 40, Wilson connected with Al Frietag for his first of many attempts to put the ball in the air. From that point, tailback Rob Lombardi took charge, advancing the ball into Lowell territory and finally carrying it across the goal line for the score. Tewksbury again went to Lombardi for the two point conversion and the halftime lead of 8-6.

Both teams experimented in the third and fourth quarters in their vain efforts to score. Although Lowell's offense came up with some big plays in the second half, it was the Tewksbury defense that proved to be the difference. Tewksbury's next opponent will be the Rangers from Methuen Friday, October 3.

Road race Nov. 23

A major road racing event and a fun fitness outing for the whole family will take place in Tewksbury on Sunday, Nov. 23.

On that day the Greater Lowell Road Runners will sponsor another "Run Your Turkey Off" race for those who would like to compete for prizes and awards and for those who would simply like to get in shape before the "fat days" to come.

The day will begin at 9 a.m. with a three mile fun walk. This is a new feature in the race that might interest the many people in the area who have taken up walking for fitness.

At 10 a.m. there will be a 1.5 mile novice run for people who are just beginning a running program and younger runners.

At 10:30 the "big race" will begin - a 15 kilometer (9.3 mile) road race. This year the 15k will be for the New England championship and it will be the first major road racing championship race ever to be held in this area.

In every age category, for both men and women, there will be trophies and turkeys for the winners. All entrants in the 15k will receive t-shirts.

All three of the events will start in the Tewksbury High School parking lot. The locker room and shower facilities of the school will be available.

Members of the TMHS boys and girls cross-country teams will help manage the race along with the Greater Lowel Road Runners. Anyone else who would like to help officiate this event would be more than welcome. Please call Ben Fudge at 851-3272.

The Greater Lowell Road Runners also seeking additional sponsors for the race. Several businesses in the area are already helping with donations or prizes, but more sponsors would be greatly appreciated.

If you would like to sponsor the race - or if you would like an entry form to participate in any of the three events - call Ben Fudge at 851-3272.

Last year approximately 300 people participated in the Run Your Turkey Off race. Many people commented on how well the race was handled, how nice the course was, and what a good time they had.

This year, with the addition of the fun walk and the added attraction of teh New England championship, the event should be better than ever.

Wildcats gear for first win Saturday

Bouncing ball

The Wildcats had trouble following the bouncing ball for most of the afternoon Saturday. Wilmington is the pick to stop the 0-2 start and defeat Haverhill this week.

Ausiello moves up

Wildcat senior two-way starter Al Ausiello (9) gets set to make his presence felt on defense Saturday, moving up quickly to help out on a tackle. Ausiello and the winless Wildcats host Haverhill Saturday afternoon.

More Indian points

Billerica's Dave Lyons toes the first point after of the game that saw the Wildcats fall to 0-2 with a 27-14 defeat.

Plenty of Wildcats

Dan Woods (7) and a swarm of Wilmington defenders move in to make this first half tackle.

Tough day for defense

Wilmington's defense spent a lot of time on the field Saturday and hung tough despite the 27-14 setback at the hands of Billerica.

Bodybuilding Classic

The fourth annual A.A.U. sanctioned Mr./Ms. Merrimack Valley Bodybuilding Classic will be held Saturday, October 25 at the Lowell High School auditorium. Pre-judging will begin at 3:30 p.m. The finals, which include freestyle posing and awards ceremony, will begin at 7:30 pm.

The classic is pleased to announce that Marlon Darton of Tucson, Arizona will be the guest poser at this event.

Marion holds the titles of 1985 Mr. World (Tall Class) and Mr. America (Tall Class) and is currently training for the1986 Mr. Universe and Mr. America.

He will be conducting a bodybuilding seminar, which will begin at 6 p.m. This will be open to anyone who may be interested in attending.

The competition will consist of three men's divisions: Mr., Teenage, and Masters over 35, and one women's division: Ms.

There will be three height classes in the Mr., two height classes in the Ms. and one in the Teen and Masters divisions.

Competitors must be A.A.U. members. If potential competitors are not A.A.U. members, a sanctioning fee of $10.00 must be enclosed with the entry fee of $8.00

Confirmation letters and directions will be sent to all contestants.

Tickets are on sale now for $6.50 or are available at the door for $7.50.

Last year's competition was a huge success, attracting 45 competitors and over 1000 spectators.

This year's competition promises to be even better. The Mr./Ms. Merrimack Valley Bodybuilding Classic is an excellent chance for area bodybuilders to experience the excitement of competing in a quality competition.

For further information, contact Craig Dadoly, 136 Forest Park Rd., Dracut, Ma. 01826 or call (617) 957-1544.

Wilmington rolls

Girls under 14

The Wilmington II girls U-14 soccer team (Wildcats) won its' season opener 3-0 over a good Burlington III team in recent action. This was a total team victory where all of the Wimington girls played well, particularly the defense for getting a shutout in their first game.

The swarming defense kept the Burlington team bottled up in their own end most of the game, with few chances to shoot on the Wilmington goal. The shots they did get were quickly gobbled up by Britt Cronin, who played a strong game in goal.

The defense was led by Debbie Topping and Jennifer Bowen both of whom played very strong games at center fullback and halfback respectively.

The offense was also strong and relentless, as they kept constant pressure on the Burlington goal. The low score was no indication of the many shots taken on the Burlington goal by the Wilmington forwards and halfbacks. Goals were scored by Stacy Lacrocia, Gina DeSantis and Melissa Masse.

Game two

The Wilmington II girls U-14 Wildcats lost their first game, 2-0 to a very strong Medford team. This was a tough loss, since both Medford goals were not given up cheaply. The first was a 30 yard hail Mary bomb which sailed over the goalkeeper's outstretched hands. The second goal came via a penalty kick on a very questionable call.

Although they lost, the Wilmington girls can take pride in the fact that except for the two tainted goals, they kept a stronger team scoreless. The defense was outstanding, as they broke up many good Medford scoring charges.

Jill Surprenant was the star of the game, as she made three spectacular plays on Medford breakaways. Debbie Topping and Stacie Murphy also played extremely well at fullback. Also contributing mightily to the defensive effort was the play of Britt Cronin in goal, who made several outstanding saves. The offensive stars were Stacy LaCorcia, Julie Robinson, Lisa Vivona, Stacey Ouellette and Gina DeSantos.

The Wilmington Youth Soccer Association's Boys' Under 14 Cosmos have played three games thus far in the Middlesex Youth Soccer League. The opening game was a 5-0 win over Waltham. Goals were scored by Victor Pacheco, Bobby Surran, Michael King, John Cairamaglia and Matt McManus. David DeCenso played well in goal.

The second game was a tough 5-1 loss to Reading. In that game, Stephen Pepe, David Dellascio, J.J. Smith and Kevin Meeker all played well for Wilmington.

The third game was another win for the Cosmos, this one a 3-1 victory over Wakefield. Goals were scored by Bobby Deislinger and Victor Pacheco (two).

The win was keyed by the great two way play of halfbacks Richard Barletta and Eric Creeth, as well as the stong defensive play of fullbacks Kevin DiGiovanni, Michael Botte and Freddie Damore.

The Cosmos' next game will be this Saturday at home against Andover.

Youth hoop

Registration for Tewksbury boys' youth basketball will be held at the Tewksbury Town Hall Tuesday, Oct. 7 from 7 until 9 p.m. To be eligible a boy must be at least nine years old by December 1, 1986 and no older than 14 years old on that same date. Wilmington arts lottery grants disbursed

The Wilmington Council for the Arts is currently distributing $2,445 in grants certified in July by the Mass. Arts Lottery Council at the State House.

Applications which were approved on the local level last April include scholarship funds for Lisa Rae Spahl, who is a junior at Mass. College of Arts, and Tina M. Allen, a student of graphic design at Syracuse University.

The Wilmington Recreation Department again received a grant to bring the "Little Red Wagon" traveling theatre from the University of New Hampshire to the Glen Road playground in July. James Wrynn received funding for a modular core of costume basics to enhance productions of the Wilmington High School Actors Theatre.

The remainder of the funds from the July distribution will be used to help finance the opening of a Community Center for the Arts which will provide a home, hopefully early in 1987, for both fine and performing arts in Wilmington. The center is to be located in the Old Town Hall on Middlesex Avenue.

The next distribution of funds will be January, 1987. Applications are now being accepted. All artists, musicians, and cultural organizations in the community are urged to take advantage of this unique local arts funding opportunity. With Arts Lottery grants, it has become possible for the Council to encourage and support a variety of worthwhile arts and humanities projects in Wilmington.

Application forms are at Town Hall in the office of the Town Clerk, and at Memorial Library. For further information, call 657-4817 or 658-5231. Grant applications must be typed and submitted by 4:30 p.m. October 16, 1986 to the Wilmington Council for the Arts in care of Town Hall, 121 Glen Road, Wilmington, MA 01887.

Seeks rezoning input

by Arlene Surprenant

Kevin MacDonald came before the Wilmington Planning Board Tuesday seeking feedback on a proposal to rezone 9.8 acres of land off Andover Street from R60 to R20. This is the same proposal which will be brought before voters at a December 1, special town meeting.

Originally, said MacDonald, he had planned to put five homes on his property, but was denied a water easement by the Water and Sewer Commission. Now he hopes to rezone in order to create 14 lots for single family homes.

Macdonald told board members he has the support of most of his neighbors who would like to see the property used for residences rather than industrial use. The site is near an industrial zone.

Chairman Carole Hamilton said she didn't understand the rationale behind changing from R60 to R20. "It doesn't really relate. There's no reason to think that land would become industrially zoned," she told MacDonald.

"All I want to do is build some houses up there and keep it a nice area," MacDonald said, adding he's already talked to people interested in using the site for a nursing home, low to moderate income housing, and for the gravel located there.

A planning board public hearing on special town meeting articles is tentatively set for November 18.

Special needs meeting Monday

The Wilmington Special Needs Advisory Council (SNAC) will hold its annual open house Monday, October 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the Fourth of July Building opposite Wilmington Common on Middlesex Avenue.

Changes in the Chapter 766 laws now make Parent Avisory Councils (PAC) mandatory rather than optional. Wilmington is fortunate in having had an active PAC for many years.

Wilmington senior topics

Council meets October 14

The Council on Aging meeting will not be held the first Monday of the month, because of the trip to the Edaville Railroad. Due to the following Monday being a holiday, the council meeting will be held Tuesday, October 14. It will be held in the function room starting at 1:30 p.m. At this meeting candidates seeking election to political office in the November election have been invited to speak. This is the seniors' opportunity to address a particular candidate with questions they would like answered.

With so many cuts in programs that are essential to seniors, it is important that votes be cast for candidates with an interest in senior affairs. It is important that seniors attend the Oct. 14 meeting. It is the only way of letting these candidates know how elderly voters are being treated under the present administration and that seniors will fight to prevent any more cuts in Social Security, Medicare, medical treatment, housing, and food stamps.

Increases

Effective July 1, 1986, the property abatement qualifications for persons over the age of 70 in Massachusetts have been increased to allow more elderly citizens to receive assistance with their real estate tax. Clause 41c for seniors over 70, the income qualification has increased from $10,000, to $13,000 for a single person, $12,000 to $15,000 for a married couple. Whole estate increased from $20,000 to $28,000 for a single person and $23,000 to $30,000 for a married couple. The whole estate excludes your home or when the domicile is three dwelling units or less. For more information on these changes check with the tax collector when you receive your tax bill.

Edaville trip

The buses for the Edaville Railroad will leave the Senior Center at 10:30 a.m. promptly on Monday morning October 6. Please call the Center if you feel you cannot go on the trip. There are seniors waiting for a cancellation. The buses will leave for home promptly at 2:45 p.m.

When you arrive at the Center, please enter and be checked off. Remain in the building until you are to board the bus. We will be boarding the handicapped seniors first. All handicapped should remain in the outer office area. In this way we will not overlook you when the handicapped are being boarded. If you refuse to get on the first bus we cannot be responsible for your safety. Any senior traveling with a handicapped will also board with the handicapped senior on the first bus. To speed the filling of the buses, please do not save seats, get with the person you wish to ride with before you board the bus.

Wilmington police news

During the week ending September 30, Wilmington police officers responded to four accidents, nine alarms, made four arrests, quieted a domestic problem and investigated a larceny.

Alert neighbors reported an incident of suspicious activity, one traffic complaint was logged and two incidents of vandalism are still under investigation.

Arrests

At 1 a.m. Wednesday officers White and Miller arrested Joseph Reilly, Jr., 54 of Pine Street Belmont charging him with being a disorderly person. He was held for court Wednesday morning.

A second arrest Wednesday morning was made by Sgt. Palmer and Officer LaRivee who arrested a local woman on drunk driving charges. Nancy Axtman, 47, of 70 Shawsheen Avenue was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. She appeared in Woburn Court Wednesday.

Officer Pat King arrested a Melrose man Wednesday morning while conducting a truck regulation enforcement. Dennis Dimeo, 27 of 25 Whitman Rd., was arrested on the basis of two outstanding warrants issued by MDC and Everett police. He was turned over to MDC officers.

Officer Jon Shepard arrested Phillip Dorn, 56 of East Street, Melrose early Thursday morning charging him with driving while intoxicated. The arrest took place on Route 129 near Route 93.

Friday afternoon Sgt. Palmer and officers Cuoco and Neville arrested two local men on liquor charges after investigating a complaint on Burt Road. Philip Valente, 24 of 159 Burlington Avenue and Paul Cantwell, 18, of 78 Temple Street, Tewksbury were charged with public drinking.

Also arrested Friday afternoon by Officer Joe Morgan was Joseph Jordan, Jr. of 10 Basswood Street, Lawrence by virtue of a default warrant issued by Lawrence Court.

Friday night was a busy one with the regular shift augmented by the special enforcement team. Twenty arrests were made by various officers.

The first three people were arrested shortly after 4 p.m. by officers King and Richter. Scott LeFleur, of 53 Village Green Dr., No. Andover, Steven C. Jopson, 112 Palwtucket Blvd., Tyngsboro and Jennifer Chenard, 18 Sandra Lane, Chelmsford were all charged with possession of a class B substance believed to be cocaine.

At 8 p.m., in North Wilmington officers arrested Jeffrey and Sean Brennan , both of 31 Mill Road and a juvenile female on liquor related charges. Jeff was charged with possession of an altered drivers license. Sean and the juvenile were charged with possession of liquor while under the legal age.

At 9:45 p.m. the same evening five Woburn people were arrested on Border Avenue after police responded to a complaint of a disturbance. Jil Lisacki, 20, School Street; Diane Giffune, 97 Spring Court Ext.; Jill Brown, 99 Salem St.; Robert Foley, 14 Highet Ave and Mark George, 50 Forest Park Rd., all of Woburn were charged with public drinking.

At 10 p.m. after officers responded to complaints of a large group of youths on the property of the Bible Speaks Church, drinking and partying, 11 people were arrested on various charges including trespassing, disturbing the peace and public drinking. They included:

Kevin Hadlesy, Woodcrest Avenue, Burlington; John Finengan, 365 Shawsheen Ave., Wilmington; William Whiteman, Fairmount Street, Woburn; Joseph Digilio, Lucy Road, Burlington; Stephen Gilmartin, Phyllis Avenue, Burlington; William Mundie, Jr., Chandler Road, Burlington;

Sean Farrow, Burlington Street, Burlington; Daniel White, Campbell street, Woburn; Dawn DelSolia, Greenwood Road, Burlington; Nicole Manning, Ellen Road, Burlington; and Kristen Groulx, Pine Ridge, Burlington.

Three people were arrested early Saturday morning and charged with operating while under the influence. Sgt. Palmer arrested Brian McCauley, 22 of County Springs Road, Tewksbury. Officer Pat king arrested Richard Purington, 22 of East Nichols Road, Woburn.

Sgt. Palmer arrested Corine Robichaud, 21 of Conn Street, Woburn. All of the above people were bailed for an appearance in Woburn Court Monday morning.

Monday evening Officer Chris Neville arrested Joseph Ruggiero, 4 Cook Ave., on the basis of a Wilmington default warrant.

Monday afternoon citations were issued after completion of the investigation into the fatal motorcycle accident on Woburn Street Thursday evening. The investigation was conducted by Sgt. Peterson and Officer Larry Redding, assisted by Trooper Steve Benanti of the State Police Barracks, Andover.

The trooper is an accident reconstruction expert who has provided his expertise in past accident investigations. Officer Redding issued a citation to Karen Malfa, 43 North St., Wilmington charging her with speeding, failing to keep to the right of the roadway and endangering. She was also charged with the misdemeanor motor vehicle homicide.

Programs for adults and kids

The arts are alive and well thanks to CAK

By JIM ROUILLARD

With pencil, pen and wiggly cleff, the arts are alive and well and making monster faces in Reading.

Creative Arts for Kids, Inc. -- which is by no means just for kids, by the way – is a local program now entering its tenth anniversary, which will complete a decade of devotion to the arts.

And it is exploding with success.

In 1986 alone, funds have been awarded by the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, the Lechmere Corporation, Polaroid, AVCO, and the Stevens Foundation, among others.

Headquartered at the First Congregational Church (United Church of Christ) at Woburn and Sanborn streets, Creative Arts is a non-profit, tax-exempt product of 10 years of intense love and labor.

Conceived under a red flag and delivered in a closet (actually it was an office the size of a bathroom – but it had a telephone), Creative Arts is the brainchild of a Reading resident who had moved to town from Winthrop.

Judith O'Hare, now the program's executive director, said that in discussions with Reading educators, she was told the town had a great school system, but was weak in the arts, "and that was like waving a red flag in front of me."

So, in hopes of starting a program, she went to the superintendent of schools, who said, "Great! But there's no money. If you can get the money fine."

That's when O'Hare started calling people, and Creative Arts for Kids was begun with an initial proposal to offer children's classes -- but not just limited to children.

Eager to disclaim too much credit for herself and her own role in Creative Arts for Kids, O'Hare repeatedly stressed that the effort to begin and to expand from its first tiny office in the Reading Community Center to its current size "has taken lots and lots of people over the years.

"It's always been done by lots of people -- the ideas, the input, the organization -- and I think that's why it's been able to grow."

And how it has grown. On a Wednesday, its busiest day, the program at the United Church of Christ may involve nine of the building's rooms, morning, noon and night-time. On a weekly basis, some 100 hours of instruction take place within the church building alone. Beyond that, Creative Arts offers courses at many other sites as well, in Reading and Wilmington, providing a creative core which serves people from 34 separate communities.

"We go beyond the parochial view of just serving Reading," O'Hare said, "Because art and music don't stop at the border. For example, if we didn't have the kids from other towns to fill out the orchestra, it wouldn't exist for my kids as well."

From its inception, O'Hare added, the people involved felt "we were saying that art is valuable and should be paid for. So we've always hired professional instructors and paid co-ordinators to facilitate interaction among teachers, parents and students."

The move into the church, O'Hare said, "doubled the rent but quadrupled the possibilities -- because we went from a closet to all this space. And that's when we looked into times -- and since the church has been very gracious about this project, and we're able to dovetail our programs with theirs, we can do arts in the morning, afternoon and evening."

As for the Creative Arts agenda itself, O'Hare explains, "music is 50 percent of the program and 75 percent of the effort."

In her second year in business, O'Hare said, she had been thinking of beginning a Suzuki program.

(Mr. Suzuki, she explained, began teaching violin in Japan after World War II, maintaining that any child can learn to play the violin, on the theory that a young child learns by ear. And Suzuki proved his theory, O'Hare said: early on the kids are playing Bach, Brahms and Vivaldi.)

In talking with the school superintendent, O'Hare discovered that the school department, though without an orchestra, had a roomful of violins.

Here was the core of her Suzuki program.

Suzuki is successful, O'Hare said, because it's very difficult to start kids later, for once they get to middle school, unless they can get good fast, there are too many other areas clamoring for their attention. The Creative Arts Suzuki approach starts at age four, on violin, viola or cello.

And Suzuki's not all. From that beginning of a roomfull of somewhat creaky and decayed violins, three orchestras have evolved.

And that's still not all. O'Hare: "Jim Roth, former music director in Reading, said we take kids only up to the sixth grade. How about teaching woodwind and brass, piano, percussion, acoustic and electric guitar? "

Done.

Creative Arts currently involves the instruction of 175-180 instrumental students, not counting the orchestras, O'Hare said, and provides a voice teacher and a banjo teacher as well.

Beyond the music program, Creative Arts provides what its name implies: arts. The kids' component involves four schools in Reading and one in Wilmington, as well as at the church -- and ranges from a 15-week dance program and "Paper Clips," a magazine written and illustrated by and for kids, to "Monster Faces/Master of Disguises," which includes a personal make-up kit.

And there is a large adult program as well. "We find adults are so busy," O'Hare said, that they can't always commit to eight weeks. So we also have one-night workshops, like oriental rugs, wine-tasting, sign language, and wardrobe wisdom for men and women, to try to give people different experiences."

Returning to her theme of giving credit to the large number of people who have helped make Creative Arts for Kids, Inc. a flourishing success, O'Hare specifically mentioned Barbara Wiese, artist in her own right and director of the arts center. Wiese also designed the Creative Arts pencil and "wiggly" cleff logo.

"She makes the art program happen," O'Hare said. "I may have an idea -- but she makes it happen, and that's very important.

"Another crucial person is Barbara Philbrick, the business manager. When you move from a budget of $4,500 to one of $108,000, with projections of $140,000," it takes talent to handle the finances.

Finally, O'Hare singled out Joanne Tedesco, Suzuki teacher, music director, and "heart and soul of our music program."

But the heart and soul of the entire program itself is creativity itself, typified, though not exclusively, by Barbara Wiese who, O'Hare joked, may come at her one day and say:

"We've got to do something different . . . something messy even. How about plaster of paris animals? "

And so the mess and the creation may begin.

And afterwards?

The kids -- and the adults -- love it.

So would you.

Handful of thoughts

FM TALK: A handful of thoughts that crossed our footloose correspondent's mind this week:

I haven't had much luck with service these days. I found myself in desperate need of a washing machine repairman recently, and since my basement was on the verge of becoming flooded with soapy water, I decided the best bet was to contact the large department store from which I purchased the machine. They informed me that I had to contact their authorized repair people, who were located somewhere south of Boston. I did, and they told me I had to call this guy even further south of Boston who handled my region. I did, or at least I attempted to reach him. As my cellar continued to look more like the setting for a white water rafting contest, I waited and waited to get through to this so-called authorized repair person. I finally gave up and out of greater desperation I turned to a friend, the Yellow Pages, and located a company in Reading called L.F. Carton, which sent a repairman almost immediately. He had my machine fixed in no time flat, and my shirts in the dryer in time to make the theatre. Thank you, L.F. Carton.

My luck in restaurants hasn't been too good lately, either. I was recently waiting for a table at a fancy hotel restaurant in Boston when I encountered a flippant young waitress who obviously has a lot to learn about the service business. After ny name was called I got up from my table and headed toward the hostess's stand. The waitress about whom I'm speaking (and who, incidentally, received a twenty percent tip for her brief service) called over to me from about ten feet away (she was huddled in a corner with another

Learn to dry autumn flowers

Throughout September and October, many garden flowers and native wildflowers reach maturity, and can be successfully preserved for use in winter bouquets, according to Thurston Handley, Home Horticulture Specialist with the Middlesex County Cooperative Extension, a division of the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. The berries, flowers, leaves and seedpods of many plants are a colorful addition to arrangements.

Plants such as loose-strife, goldenrod, milkweed, tansy, statice and strawflowers are easily dried and retain their natural color. These flowers should be cut or pulled, bunched and hung upside down in a dry dark closet or attic until dry. This method usually takes three to four weeks.

Flowers and leaves from plants such as ferns, maples, oaks and spirea may be pressed between several thicknesses of newspaper. The leaves should be dry and not overlapped. Light weights should be used and the newspapers changed weekly. This procedure takes about three weeks.

Light textured flowers such as zinnias, marigolds and roses can be preserved using Borax. Flowers are wired or placed in a box with 2 inches of Borax. Then a layer of Borax is carefully sifted around the flowers and between the petals until they are well covered. This procedure will dry them in their natural, colorful state in 1 - 6 days, depending on the flower.

Silica Gel is another product available from local garden supply dealers which may be used successfully.

Coarse petaled flowers dry best, but nearly all types can be dried with Silica Gel. For best results, follow the directions accompanying the commercial product.

For further information on "Preserving Flowers," contact the Agriculture Department, Middlesex County Cooperative Extension, 105 Everett Street, Concord, Ma. 01742, telephone numbers, 369-4845 or 862-2380, for a free leaflet of that title.

Bloodmobile schedule

In order to maintain an adequate supply of fresh blood, units must be collected daily throughout the Northeast Region. The Eastern Middlesex Region is an important piece in the overall picture. Healthy donors are eligible to participate every 56 days. Community drives scheduled in October include:

Monday, October 6 — St. Eulalia's Church, Winchester, 2:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Friday, October 17 — K of C Hall, Wakefield, 2:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Monday, October 20 — First Baptist Church, Malden, 2 to 7 p.m.

Monday, October 27 — First Congregational Church, Melrose, 2 to 7 p.m.

Monday, October 27 — Tufts University, Medford, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

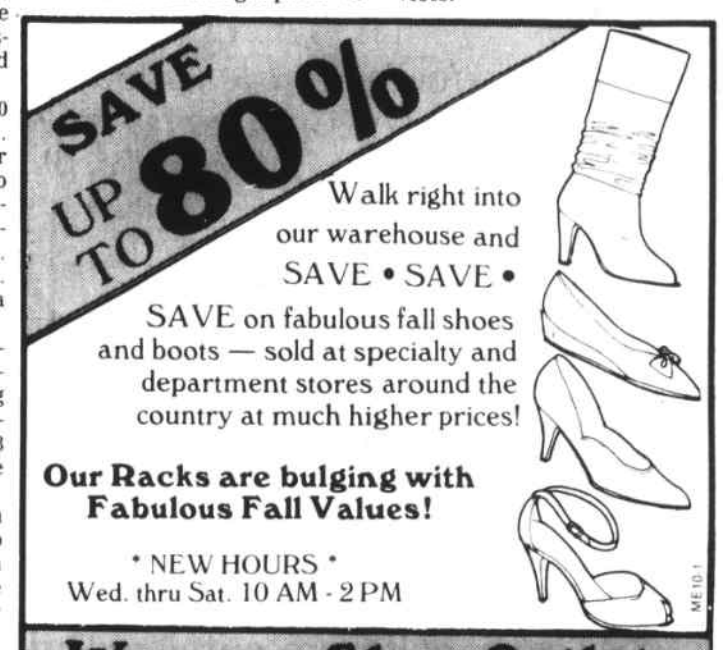

Tuesday, October 28 — Tufts University, Medford, 2 to 8 p.m.

Wednesday, October 29 — Tufts University, Medford, 2 to 8 p.m.

In addition, Northeast Regional Blood Service thanks the American Mutual, Wakefield; Mass. Electric, Malden and McCord-Winn, Winchester for holding bloodmobiles for their employees.

Roving

waitress, probably discussing something of great importance, such as the success of their previous night's dates) and asked me to remove my "mess" from the table. Like a fool, I did as she requested. Later, well after dinner was finished and I was about to call it a night, I began to realize that I should have told her to take a flying leap off the balcony (there happened to be one overlooking Boston harbor).

Speaking of restaurants, a friend and I happened to be sitting in a Ninety-nine restauant in Woburn recently when a rather humorous thought crossed my friend's mind. What if everybody sitting at the bar decided to get up all at once with their drinks in their hands and walk around the room? To appreciate the levity in this you have to understand the absurdity of the liquor laws (although they are well-intended) in that city. I can just imagine the chaos just such a mass movement would create for the management there.

As I write this column, the Red Sox are still trying to get over the magic number "three" and onto the playoffs. Which brings to mind this thought: too many Sox fans I've spoken with lately are looking right past the California Angels to a World Series with the New York Mets. (I suspect Mets fans are probably doing the same thing, looking past the Houston Astros at us.) This could be a serious mistake. Both the Sox and Mets are going to find their respective pennant races a whole lot tougher than some fans think. My feeling is there will be a Sox-Mets World Series, but let's not overlook the pennant races first.

At this moment the Patriots have played only three games, and I was as sorry over their loss to Seattle as the next fan. But let's not throw in the towel yet. For the most part they played a pretty terrific game against the Seahawks, which, you have to admit, aren't that bad a ball club. If you think Pats fans are feeling low after their loss to Seattle, think of how Dolphin and Jets fans are feeling these days. Their teams are having troubles whether they play a tight defensive game or let all heck break loose with their offenses. It's just too early in the season to be making the kind of negative comments I've been hearing about the Pats and their chances of repeating this year. Let's face it, the odds of their returning to the playoffs are pretty good.

I am, however, a bit disappointed in the crop of films that is currently on the screens at our neighborhood cinemas. The only two memorable films to come out of this past summer were "Aliens" and "The Fly", which leads me to wonder what's in store for the upcoming holidays, the time of year reserved for the big, so-called "blockbusters." There is a sleeper amongst us, though. Don't miss David Lynch's "Blue Velvet," which stars Kyle MacLachlan, Laura Dern, Isabella Rossellini (Ingrid Bergman's daughter), Dennis Hopper and Dean Stockwell. You may recall that Lynch also directed "The Elephant Man" and "Dune."

Some interesting reading: The Further Sayings of Chairman Malcolm," by Malcolm Forbes (you have to order this one via mail — the address is Forbes, 60 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10011); "The Fall of Kelvin Walker: A Fable of the Sixties," by Alasdair Gray; "Kate Vaiden," by Reynolds Price; "Straight Cut," by Madison Smartt Bell; "The Amateurs," by David Halberstam; and, for mystery lovers, "Murder in Manhattan," which was concocted by eight of this country's best mystery writers.

I'd like to mention a great and good buddy of ours, Anthony Resta, who is the popular drummer in a group called Astra. Tony, who has travelled with such groups as Mickey, Larry and the Exciters, and has appeared on video with such groups as Till Tuesday, is one of the hottest drummers in the Boston area. Be listening for Astra's recordings soon.

I'd like to wish another friend of ours, Mike Pottle, good luck in his new venture. Mike's company, Focus Financial Services, recently acquired the Lynn Credit Bureau.

Other friends who have had the opportunity to travel north through Vermont have reported back to us that the foliage this year is more brilliant than ever. Perhaps it has something to do with the warm, wet summer we had. I hope to get some time off soon to take in those magnificent colors.

One final thought before our closing words of wisdom from Kahlil Gibran: do you realize there are only twelve more weeks until Christmas? Slap my wrist for mentioning it.

"Beauty is that which attracts your soul, and that which loves to give and not to receive."

Make it a good week.

Glass harmonica concert Oct. 4

On Saturday, Oct. 4, Fruitlands Museums in Harvard, Mass. will present Vera Meyer of Cambridge in two performances on the glass harmonica. This rare instrument was invented by Benjamin Franklin in the Eighteenth Century and enjoyed a wide popularity in Europe for many years. After more than a century of obscurity, a Waltham, Mass. scientific glass blower saw an original in a Paris museum and tried his hand at creating a more modern version using the Franklin blueprints.

That glassblower, Gerhard Finkenbeiner, is the only one in the world who knows how to make these harmonicas which do not resemble in the slightest the metal mouth organ variety. The harmonicas are actually a collection of glass bowls of various sizes fitted with cork in the center and mounted on a spindle. Electricity has replaced the foot pedal of Franklin's day to revolve the apparatus under the wet fingers of the artist.

After seeing a street musician play glasses in Harvard Square, Vera Meyer became entranced with the unusual sound. She went home and built her own set of glasses, then heard of Finkenbeiner's instrument. Ms. Meyer is now an accomplished artist on the glass harmonica, giving concerts and lectures all over New England. Her repertoire includes pieces originally composed by Mozart and Beethoven for glass instruments, as well as other classical and popular music.

The two concert-demonstrations at Fruitlands will be at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the Hudson River Room of the Picture Gallery. Due to limited seating in the Gallery, reservations are necessary for these performances. There is no charge for Fruitlands' members and their families. The charge for non-members is $3.00 for adults and $1.00 for children 16 and under.

For more information or to make a reservation, please cal Mrs. Cornell or Mrs. Tuft at 456-3924.

Beautiful Eyes contest this month

In response to the dozens of would-be contestants who have asked for additional time to enter the 1986 "Most Beautiful Eyes" Contest, the National Society to Prevent Blindness — Massachusetts Affiliate is extending the deadline for entries to Oct. 15.

The "Most Beautiful Eyes" Contest, open to all men, women, and children, is intended to promote eye health and safety while raising funds for the Society's programs. "Our phone is ringing constantly," notes Richard Hurley, the group's president. "By extending the deadline we hope to give everyone a chance at winning."

The winner of the 1986 contest will receive a trip for two to San Francisco courtesy of American Airlines and America's International Travel Club. Entrants will be judged solely on the appearance of their eyes: physical appearance, talent, personality and the other usual beauty contest criteria play no part in the selection process. Eyes will be judged for size, color, shape, clarity and overall healthy appearance.

In addition to an entry form, contestants are asked to submit a close-up, color photograph of their eyes along with a $10 tax-deductible contribution in support of the National Society to Prevent Blindness. In Oct., ten finalists will be chosen from photographs submitted to compete for the grand prize on the evening of Oct. 24.

Entry forms and additional information are available by calling the Society at (617) 489-0007, or by forwarding a self-addressed, stamped envelope tc Prevent Blindness, 375 Concord Avenue, Belmont, MA 02178. The National Society to Prevent Blindness, the nation's second oldest voluntary health agency, is supported entirely by public contributions. The Society maintains programs of research, public and professional education, and community service in support of its sight-saving work.

Parade of Events

AMBITIONS

Widening Horizons is sponsoring the two-part program, "Discovering Your Dreams," on consecutive Thursdays, October 9 and 16, from 10 a.m. to noon.

The workshop will help participants look at the ambitions they have abandoned in favor of more practical occupations. By focusing on hidden career aspirations, the participant will learn to integrate this discovered information into present work and leisure activities. The first session will be devoted to the process of dream discovery, and in the second session techniques for incorporating these ideas will be discussed.

The program will be held in the Career Resource Room at Widening Horizons, a career development center at 50 Beharrell Street, West Concord. Registration fee is $40. Call 369-1626 for information and registration.

POETRY CONTEST

The Poetry Contest run by the St. Francis Institute is still continuing. All poets intending to enter the contest should as soon as possible send in their poems before November 1, 1986.

The best one hundred poems will be collected into an Anthology of Poems, "Le Livre." Each of these one hundred will also receive a complimentary copy of "Le Livre." The top three of these one hundred will have their names stamped in gold on the cover. Also, for the top three winners there will be a first prize of $100, a second prize of $50, and a third prize of $25.

Anyone may enter as many poems on any subject as he or she chooses. The maximum number of lines for each poem is thirty-two. The entry donation to register is $5 per poem. Please, include name, address, and telephone number with each entry.

Send your poems and a $5 registration fee for each poem you enter to: Poetry Contest, St. Francis Institute, P.O. Box 263, Andover, Ma. 01810.

LANGUAGE CLASSES

Irish language classes for the Fall of 1986 will begin in the basement hall of St. Malachy's Church, Bedford Street, Burlington, at 7 p.m. on Monday, October 6.

The class for beginners will emphasize simple spoken Irish, including greetings, songs, proverbs, and conversation on everyday topics.

The class for intermediate students will begin at 8:30 on the same evening and will be devoted to reading standard prose and poetry in Irish.

The fee for the ten Fall classes will be fifty dollars.

The instructor will be John H. Brougham of Cambridge, a long-time student of Irish and a retired teacher, who has taught these classes in previous years.

The program is sponsored by Cumann na Gaeilge in Boston and made possible by the generosity of Rev. Fr. James G. Rafferty, Pastor of St. Malachy's.

BUSINESS WOMEN

The North Bay Chapter of the American Business Women's Association will hold their October meeting on Sunday, October 5, at the Lord Wakefield in Wakefield, Mass. from noon to 3 p.m.

This meeting will feature Ms. Mary Lou Higgins, a fashion coordinator from Bloomingdale's. She will give a demonstration showing how the use of accessories can change one outfit into nearly 30. A buffet lunch will be served. The donation will be $15.00.

This meeting will be a major fundraiser for North Bay Chapter toward their goal of a scholarship which is awarded each year to a woman who is either in college or planning to return to college before entering the business environment.

ABWA meetings feature interesting and informative speakers and members enjoy many fringe benefits as a National Organization. Women who are employed or self-employed are eligible for membership. Anyone interested in attending this meeting please contact Edith Conley at 245-9528 or Josephine Fitzgerald at 935-1104 for more information (please call after 6 p.m.).

GRIEF SUPPORT

Grief Recovery is a counselor-led mutual support group open to all who are experiencing grief because of a death, life threatening disease, divorce, or other reason. Five Tuesday evening sessions starting October 7, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at New England Memorial Hospital, 105 Woodland Road, Stoneham. Call 665-1740, ext. 215. There is a $10 fee for materials.

FABRIC FAIR

An old fashioned yard sale — where you will be able to purchase new fabrics, yarns, notions and patterns for home sewing projects at bargain prices.

It's the perfect time and opportunity to pickup many of those supplies that you will need for making winter clothing and special gifts for the holidays, as well as supplies for quilting, stuffed toys and fibre arts projects.

Mary Williams, Textile and Clothing Specialist with the Middlesex County Cooperative Extension will be on hand to answer sewing questions and to pass out free printed information on sewing and home-based business. Admission is free.

Video tapes on home sewing will be available for viewing.

Sponsored by the Middlesex Home Economics Council of the Middlesex County Cooperative Extension, the Fabric Fair will be held at the Suburban Experiment Station, 240 Beaver Street, Waltham, on October 11, from 10 A.M. to 1 P.M.

GLEN CAMPBELL

Nationally renowned country western singer Glen Campbell will appear in concert on Saturday, October 11 at 8 p.m. at the Wang Center for the Performing Arts at 270 Tremont Street in Boston.

Concert tickets are on sale and may be purchased by contacting The Charles River Association for Retarded Citizens at (617) 444-4347 in Needham, at the Wang Center Box Office or by calling Ticketmaster toll-free at 1-800-682-8080.

Tickets may also be picked up at Video Connection Store in Medford, MVP Sports Stores in Woburn and Somerville; at the Orpheum Theater in Boston and Garnicks Records in Lowell.

KING AND I

The Rodgers & Hammerstein musical production of "The King and I' is being performed by The Spotlighters of Lynnfield. The performance will be at the Lynnfield Middle School, on Main Street, Lynnfield, Mass. and the dates of the production are October 17, 18, 24 and 25. The curtain time is 8 p.m. and ticket prices are $9.00 for adults and $7.00 for children under the age of 16. For more information and ticket reservation, please call 334-5707 or 535-3082.

TUFTS THEATER

Lysistrata by Aristophanes. Directed by Downing Cless, Tuesday, October 21 through Saturday, October 25 at 8 p.m., Tufts Arena Theater, Talbot Avenue, Tufts University, Medford. Tickets: $1.00 Tuesday, $3.00 Wednesday and Thursday, $4.00 Friday and Saturday. Visa and Mastercharge accepted. Box Office hours Monday-Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. For information, call 381-3493.

HIT MUSICAL

"Nunsense," the hilarious, irreverent musical comedy that features a quintet of singing, dancing, romping nuns, comes to Boston for a four-week engagement at the Boston Shakespeare Theatre. Previews of "Nunsense" will begin on Thursday, October 9 at 8 p.m., with the press opening on Wednesday, October 15 at 7:30 p.m. The Boston production of "Nunsense" is being produced by Michael Frazier and Kenneth Todd Biller.

Tickets may be purchased at the box office at the Boston Shakespeare Theatre, 52 St. Botolph Street, Boston, Ma. 02116. For information, call (617) 267-5600. The Boston Shakespeare Theatre is located near Copley Place, behind the Colonnade Hotel. To charge tickets by phone, call ChargeTix: (617) 542-8511.

ANTIQUES

Selected New England dealers will exhibit their antiques on Saturday, October 18, at the 23rd annual Antiques Show and Sale sponsored by the Acton Center Congregational Church. For this year only, the show will be held at the Acton Boxborough Regional High School, 96 Hayward Road, Acton. Hours will be 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The school provides a spacious atmosphere for the displays of country furniture, antique wicker, lamps, primitives, laces and linens, paintings and prints, jewelry, dolls, textiles, china, glassware, iron and brass.

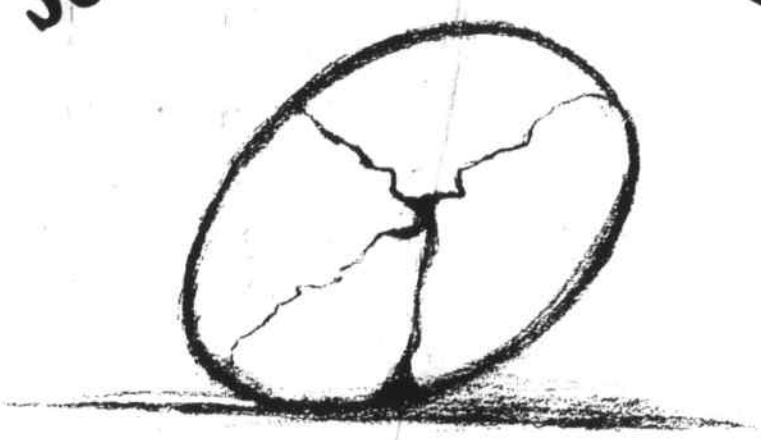

Throughout the day, a country kitchen will offer sandwiches and soups, beverages, and freshly baked pies, cakes and cookies.

To reach the high school from Route 111, turn at the tennis courts just west of the intersection of Routes 27 and 111.

Admission is $3. For information, call 263-2728.

Retired Men's Club notes

Even a speech on sewage can be exciting when delivered by a skillful and entertaining speaker like Allison C. Hayes, retired MDC engineer. This was the observation of 265 men who attended the bi-monthly meeting of the Retired Men's Club of Wakefield on September 24, as they listened to one of their own members trace the history of sewage disposal in Metropolitan Boston.

Mr. Hayes gave an interesting history of waste disposal in the Boston area from the earliest days when the only "sewage" was laundry water and rainwater, to the present time when sewage needs an elaborate disposal system with primary and secondary treatment plants. With all the sophisticated technology available today, however, Boston is still faced with harbor pollution. Every method of disposing of sewage that has been proposed so far has had disadvantages that must be weighed against the advantages; one set of problems is exchanged for another; for example, to burn sewage would create an air pollution problem.

After observing Mr. Hayes' dedication and affection for his profession, his sense of humor and his thorough knowledge of the workings of the MDC, it is clear why the state named in his honor the Allison C. Hayes Wastewater Pump Station and Reading Extension Relief System.

The club welcomed the following visitors and hopes they will return to become members: Mortimer A. French of Winchester; Roy Harbour of Lynnfield; Michael J. Maselli of Stoneham; James T. Chamberlain, William E. Hamilton, Zeno Kacoyanis and Oscar Zucchi, all of Reading. The new members were Anthony Andriolo of Woburn and Edward J. Collins of Tewksbury.

The meeting began with the induction of the officers for the coming year. They are: Frank X. Day of Reading, president; Alfred E. Webber of Wakefield, first vice president; Charles H. Kelley of Wakefield, second vice president; Woodrow W. Baldwin of Reading, secretary; Andrew McHugh of Saugus, assistant secretary; Robert Mathias of Wakefield, treasurer; Charles Strauss of Melrose, assistant treasurer; and Ralph Wentzel of Wakefield, club registrar.

The men observed a moment of silence in memory of Arthur McClure (1919-1986) and Anthony Gancarz (1902-1986). The band announced they will be playing at the Topsfield Fair on October 7 from 11 to 12:45. Former president Paul Richmond of Ipswich entertained the club with his "Thoughts for the Day." The Stamp Club will meet October 14 at 1:30 p.m. in the Wakefield Library. The Travel Club has completed plans for its trips to Deerfield Fair, New York and Bermuda. All persons going on the Bermuda trip are urged to attend the meeting of the Travel Club on October 9 at 9:30 a.m. at the church.

The next meeting of the club will be October 8 at 9:30 a.m. in the First Parish Congregational Church in Wakefield. Coffee and donuts are served at 9. The speaker at that meeting will be Ms. Deborah Damato of the Tufts Associated Medical Plan. Her talk is entitled, "Personal Care – 65." All retired men in the area are invited to attend. The club meets the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month.

SINGER, SONGWRITER MICHELE VALERI and the cast and creatures of "Dinosaur Rock," the national craze of the elementary school set, will be featured entertainment at Dinosaur Weekend at the Boston Museum of Science Friday evening, Oct. 3 through Sunday, Oct. 5. Dinosaur Weekend is a family event planned during "The Return of the Dinosaurs" exhibition on display at the Museum through Nov. 30. Other activities include films, plays, games and crafts. For further information, please call 589-0100.

Parenting courses offered

If you are a new parent, an expecting parent, a recent or soon to be an adoptive parent, we have a series of programs designed to help you develop your parenting skills! The series, "Parenting Potpourri," will consist of five programs offered on consecutive Tuesday evenings from Oct. 7 to November 4. All sessions will begin at 7 p.m. and will run until approximately 10 p.m. Parents may bring their infants and toddlers to these programs.

The sessions, listed in scheduled order, are as follows: "Infant Care Skills," which teaches skills ranging from fever management to care for diaper rash; "Ask the Pediatrician," will discuss growth and normal development; "Feeding Your Child," discusses nutritional needs of infants and toddlers; "Accident Prevention and Safety," provides tips for purchasing safe cribs and other items; and "Respiratory Emergencies," which will teach mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and chokesaving skills. All sessions are taught by qualified health care professionals.

Please contact the Community Health Education Department of the Regional Health Center in Wilmington at 657-3910, ext. 567 for registration information.

The Regional Health Center in Wilmington is a division of Choate-Symmes Health Services.

LYRIC STAGE

One of the most explosive plays of all time, Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire" has received numerous productions all throughout the world since its first presentation in 1947 and is the recipient of numerous awards.

The Lyric Stage presents this Pulitzer prize-winning classic, opening Wednesday, October 15 at 7:30 and runing through November 23.

The Lyric Stage is located at 54 Charles Street, off Beacon Hill in Boston. For more information on tickets and special group discounts, call 742-1790.

Crafts fair and flea market

An inside Flea Market and Craft Fair is being held on Saturday, Oct. 4, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. rain or shine, at the West Junior High School, Shawsheen Road, Andover. Admission will be 50 cents.

There will be over 40 tables which will include flea market items, crafts, jewelry, x-mas gifts, toys, wreaths, gold/silver, homemade items, bakery, wood products, metal engraving and snacks. There will also be a free door prize drawn every hour.

The Fair is being sponsored by the Ladies Assoc., Andover Lodge of Elks. All Assoc. table proceeds will go to charity.

Pumpkin contest

The World Pumpkin Weigh-Off, an annual event to select the world's largest pumpkin, squash and watermelon, will take place on Oct. 13 at the Topsfield Fair from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. The contest is co-sponsored by the World Pumpkin Confederation, and Peters Professional Plant Food, which will offer prize monies totaling 2,000.

Entries must be received on an official entry form at least two hours prior to weigh-in time. For more information, contact Jayne Meyers, Peters Professional Plant Food, 62 Whittemore Ave., Cambridge, MA 02140.

According to National Wildlife Magazine, it was an argument over the speed of a golden plover, a hunted game bird, that led to the birth of the Guinness Book of World Records more than 30 years ago. Among the sportsmen engaged in the argument was Sir Hugh Beaver, then the managing director of Guinness Breweries.

Barbie Doll show Oct. 2-5 at Northshore Shopping Center

She's glamorous, she's elegant, she's captured the hearts of millions! She's Barbie Doll and she's on tour at Northshore Shopping Center Thursday, Oct. 2 through Sunday, Oct. 5.

Young visitors can sing, dance, play games and win prizes in the displays of Barbie's newest worlds, including Glamour World, Tropical World, the Astronaut World and as a pop star, in Barbie and The Rockers.

Hosted by live models in striking Barbie costumes, the collection of settings are designed to enchant children and adults. The extravaganza is open 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Thursday through Saturday and noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday and is of course, free to all visitors.

Crocodile Dundee

Crocodile Dundee Starring Paul Hogan, Linda Kozlowski, Mark Blum. Directed by Peter Faiman. Produced by John Cornell. Written by Hogan, Cornell, Ken Shadie. Rated PG-13 (profanity, violence).

If you are looking for romance, action and adventure and don't want to think too much, just look to the recent Aussie import, Crocodile Dundee.

Michael J. "Crocodile" Dundee is cut from the same cloth as Michael Douglas' character in Romancing the Stone. He's a legend who really is as good as his stories. He can battle crocodiles while dispensing homespun wisdom, all the while flashing a smile and romancing the reporter from New York who is trying to write a feature story about him.

The main reason this flick is such light-hearted fun is that Hogan has a great sense of comedic timing and a tough guy veneer that definately puts him into the "heart throb" category. He is hugely famous Down Under, knowns especially for his wit, much of which is apparent in the script that he helped to write.

What is also apparent is that the more time was spent writing dialogue than thinking out the plot. When Dundee leaves Australia to visit New York with the reporter (Linda Kozlowski) the story twists so much it may as well be a separate movie. We go from Tarzan to Splash and the jump is too severe to keep out disbelief suspended. However, to the filmmakers credit, Dundee's difficult assimilation into the fast-paced lifestyles in Gotham is kept amusingly low-key.

Another problem with the movie is that Australia is filmed with all the depth and wonderment of a back lot on some studio. Somehow the beauty of the country escaped the director Peter Faiman's camera.

None of this, however, means that Dundee isn't smashing entertainment. It is a happy, upbeat flick that you can take your kids to and will definitely keep you smiling throughout. It just isn't as good as it could have been.

Short Takes

Blue Velvet is the kind of movie people are either going to love or hate. There can't be a middle ground because this story of a boy's first encounter with evil as he rescues a damsel in distress is just too strange to appeal to middle America. A perverse sense of humor will help you sit through this one comfortably. Rated R.

The Name of the Rose is a truly off-beat film in which Sean Connery plays a sleuth in a medieval monastary. This film is a visual wonder that assumes the audience is intelligent enough to understand three-syllable works, and it will keep you guessing whodunnit while providing that the Middle Ages was no bowl of cherries. Rated R.

The Boy Who Could Fly is a charming fantasy the likes of which the American film industry rarely produces. This disarming film about teenager's secret world is told without a lot of glitz and with the most completely realistic speccial effects you've ever seen. Rated PG.

Where the River Runs Black is the personification of an Amazonian legend that is a beautiful story accompanied by breath-taking scenery that is so painstakingly slow in the telling you'll be ready to scream by the time the final credits roll. Rated PG.

Morons from Outer Space is a campy, low-budget comedy that is really quite funny if you don't have high-brow expectations. A British import, it takes our most revered science fiction flicks and presents them in an entirely new light. Rated PG-13. ½

Eight Million Ways to Die has more cocaine, blue language and bloodletting than has been seen since Scarface was remade. However, Jeff Bridges and Roseanna Arquette bring a depth and humor to their characters that helps to override the convoluted script. Rated R. ½

Down By Law is kind of like the Three Stooges for an art crowd. This odd, comically off-center story of two losers whose lives are turned around by a sunny, bumbling Italian has a certain naivette and charm that is quite appealing. Rated R.

The Gig is a little picture with a lot of heart about amateur jazz musicians who get their first crack at the big time — a resort in the Catskills. While the scope of the film may be small, it is made particularly enjoyable by a fine cast, especially Wayne Rogers and Cleavon Little.

The Fly is a gross-out scarefest laced with tragic overtones and may well be the quintessential horror flick of all times. Jeff Goldblum, in his finest performance to date, plays a scientist who manages to get mixed up, literally, with a fly, and the results are not for the faint of heart. Rated R.

Stand By Me is a nostalgic film about the growing pains and rituals of four pre-teen boys that was lovingly directed by Rob Reiner. This sensitive, funny flick about one last adventure before entering junior high is surprisingly based on a Stephen King novella. Rated R.

Aliens is the kind of flick that will have you holding onto your popcorn and your date to keep you from leaping out of your seat. An action/adventure/thriller, this sequel is more intensely scary than the original, and what plot flaws there are have been smoothed over with special effects and precisely timed shockers. Rated R. ½

Flight of the Navigator spins a magical tale of time travel, space travel and intergalactic friendships. It is also one of the few movies on the market that will leave you feeling happy, but not manipulated. Rated PG.

Armed and Dangerous takes the security guard business and does for it what Moving Violations did for driving schools: nothing. John Candy, a funny man, is lost amid the insipid plot and dialogue. Rated PG-13.

Tea in the Harem may try to present a realistic story of two French teenagers who are trapped by poverty and their own lack of ambition, but in reality is pretentious and sexist. The awards it won in France can't make up for the overall dullness. Not rated.

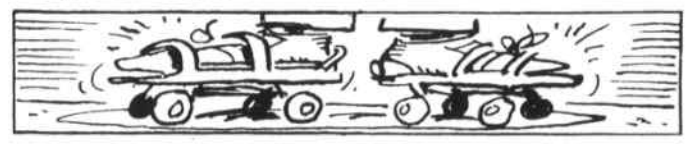

Nothing in Common is a good title for this flick, as it bears little resemblance to the comedy we expect from stars Jackie Gleason and Tom Hanks. A woeful tale about divorce and the generation gap, it would have been less confusing, to the audience and the cast, if this were a clear cut comedy or a drama, but not a dramady. Rated PG.

About Last Night could be the signature film of love stories for this decade, as it deals with young people afraid of commitment. The language is as raw as the sentiment, but the humor alternates nicely between intelligent and intense. Rated R. ½

Ruthless People is a fast paced, coarse, irreverent comedy that never loses its ability to make you laugh, even as the antics become more outrageous. A modernization of O. Henry's "Ransom of Red Chief," it's scurrilous Danny DeVito who refuses to pay two desperate young kidnappers to release his wife, a flashy, loud-mouthed Bette Midler. Rated R.

AUSTRALIAN OUTBACK ADVENTURER Paul Hogan hoists himself up a pole to get a better view of Manhattan's teeming streets in Paramount Pictures' "'Crocodile' Dundee."

The ancestors of today's roller skates were used on the roads of Holland as far back as the 18th century.

ON YOUR FEET
BUNIONS

Bunions are a common deformity of the Big Toe and the joint at the base of the big toe. The deformity is primarily caused by inherited bone structure and can be aggravated by shoe gear.
The problems associated with bunion deformities are usually a painful "bump" or enlargement on the inside of the foot at the base of the big toe and a deviated or crooked Big Toe that pushes against or under the second toe.
Correction of the deformity ranges from removal of the bump and realignment of the big toe, to more sophisticated procedures utilizing stainless steel screws.
Following a thorough examination, we will discuss our findings and treatment modalities.
All these procedures are performed in the office operating room under safe local anesthesia. Advances in operating techniques provide selection of the best procedure(s) and minimal post-operative discomfort.

Woodchips

By ANTHONY MANCONI

If you would be popular, live so that a blind person would like you. Popularity, the lasting kind, does not depend upon one having a pretty face, or being handsome, but upon inner qualities that communicate themselves to others through median other than sight. Attributes such as a genuine interest, a gentle voice and a friendly touch, will, in time give a person a radiant personality. Many of my friends at the Woburn Elks are like that especially Fr. Robert Burns, Joe Altervista, Bill McGarr, Warren Crement, Lt. Dan Gately, Michael Curran, Mr. Queen and many others.

George Guyette asked me, "How long has it been since your hair came down on your shoulders? " "Last week, when the barber cut my hair," I told him.

Dear readers, who in the world takes up scuba diving? Well, I was surprised to learn that just as many women take up the sport as men. Colette Scali, a mother of six children and a grandmother, assists her husband Don who is an instructor and certifies scuba divers for the MDC and other agencies. They also have as students; stewardesses, pilots, lawyers, etc. who go scuba diving on their vacations in the Carribbean.

There is one big difference between a taxidermist and an IRS collector. The taxidermist leaves the "hide". Those of you who have been Woodchips fans for some time know that my mother was born in Ireland and my father in Italy. Each of them came from large families and almost all married and settled in the Middlesex East area. I've told you how their many arguments ended quickly and were then forgotten when my father would swear at my mother in Italian and she would return the broadside (no pun intended) by swearing at him in Gaelic.

One day my father told my mother on one of their evening walks that it would be nice if she walked two paces behind him as was the custom for wives to do in his native Italy. Well, I don't have to tell you folks that "Hell hath no fury" like the torrent of words my father received that evening. You can be sure "that a suggestion" was never repeated again.

Do you remember when almost every city or town had at least one "diner." They all looked like railroad cars without the wheels. The one I used to love to go to almost every morning had a waitress who was as sharp as a tack. I asked her one day, "Betty, how about a little service? " "You got that when the door opened," was her answer. A taxi driver said "Gimme a cup of coffee, black, two donuts and some griddle cakes." She shouted to the cook, "Cup of motor oil, two inner tubes and some blow-out patches." "Where's Joe the owner?" I asked. "He's out to lunch." "What! " I said "Doesn't he eat in his own place? " "Listen here Fatso," she said, "Joe may be a little stupid but he sure isn't crazy." Dr. John Nowak, the eminent "Bugoligist," has just stumbled upon a scientific phenonomen. He states that "if a person's parents didn't have any children then he won't have any either." He's the same Dr. Nowak who said "illegal" is a sick bird.

The great Yankee catcher, Yogi Berra said when his team was within a game of losing a world series, "The opera isn't over til the fat lady sings." Well, I love Italian Operas even though the plot in most of them are the same. Mario comes home to unwind after a hard night's work as a "watchman." The situation is "crystal clear" so without a "second" to lose he springs into singing a beautiful tenor aria. "She was only a stableman's daughter but all of the horsemen knew her, followed by "she was as pure as the driven snow, but oh how she drifted."

Congratulations to Eddie Kaestner and Lena Caravaggio who will get married next month. Eddie associated with his father, Jerome Kaestner, owner of Unigraphics in Saugus. I thank both of them for printing 3000 copies of my poems, "Mother" and "Christmas", free of charge. They were all distributed in many of the churches in the Middlesex East area.

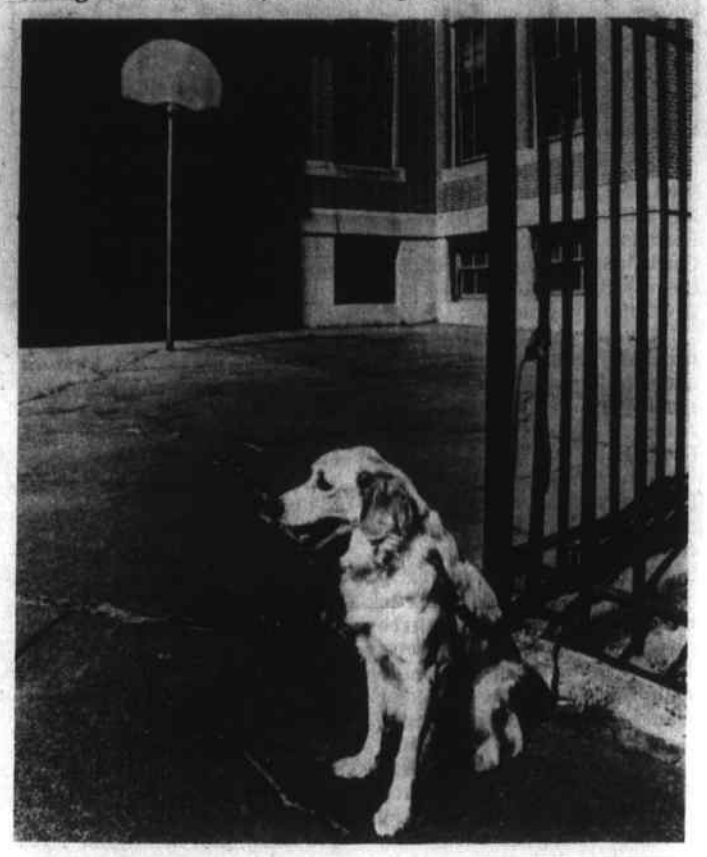

After singing some beautiful hymns the congregation was told "Now let's all turn to "Number 10" in our wallets." I asked Uncle John Shea, why Rowan Fitzgerald ran out of church last Sunday. "Oh," John said, "he does that every week just before the collection is about to be taken up."

Steven Rappa is a pharmacist. My aunt asked him to please mark the medicine carefully which bottle was for her husband, Uncle Danny, and which bottle was for the horse. She said with spring plowing about to begin she didn't want anything to happen to the horse. "Tell me," said Uncle Danny to farmer Jones, who had a farm across the road; "we have the same size farms and raise the same crop, "corn." But I have a horse to plow and you have a tractor. I have an old barn, an old truck and an old car while you have a new barn, new truck and Mercedes car." "The difference is" replied farmer Jones, "is you sell your corn "dry" while I sell mine in "liquid form." There's a man with a lot of "spirit! "

Congratulations to St. Patrick's Parish in Stoneham, celebrating its Centenary Year. I have spoken many times to its pastor, Father John Mark Hannon, but I have never met him personally, I know, now, because of a photo in last week's Stoneham Independent that Father Mark is a tall, handsome "man of the cloth." Because of the many religious, social and charitable activities of this wonderful parish it follows that "no man is an island," so that Father Mark's charisma and energetic fervor are shared with his curates and parishoners.

I'm hesitant to give a Latin quotation at this time, mainly because Latin was all Greek to me in school. Come to think of it, my English isn't so hot either but I do wish that with God's help, St Patrick's Church will endure forever.

I welcome Michelle Roach to Woodchips. She is a student at Stoneham High and helps by answering the phone at St. Patrick's rectory. I just received a ransom note that said "We have kidnapped your mother-in-law, bring $500 by Tuesday or we're bringing her back Thursday! " Uncle John Shea and his pal, Rowan Fitzgerald called their homes to say they would be home late. Theresa asked her husband, Rowan, "Where are you anyway, I can hear the sound of glasses? " "Oh," he replied, "John Shea and I are at the opticians having our 'glasses' filled. Frank Mazzoni of Wilmington, hurt himself raking leaves last week; he fell out of the tree. A judge denied a divorce plea of a coffee salesman — insufficient "grounds."

TEACHER'S PET? Not likely. Dogs that follow their owners to school are in danger of being lost or stolen, and can also be a threat to children in the schoolyard, especially if they become confused or frightened.

Summer's Farewell

The days and months have swiftly passed
And soon we'll feel the wintry blast.
Where once the rows of corn did grow,
Nature will sow her crop of snow.

Robins have come and said goodbye
At night I've seen the geese fly high.
A harvest moon looks down below,
Guarding a trout steam's gentle flow.

It's Nature's way to tell us all
To listen for her clarion call.
The time has come for us to know,
That Summer's gone, with all its glow.

Have hope — for summer will come again
For time like wheels will have no end.
Then geese and robins will say "Hello"
And corn and flowers again will grow.

"LET THE GOOD TIMES ROLL"
We decided to make our ad a little shorter in length. Some of our prospective customers felt it was too long to read, while still others assumed all those words meant our services were expensive. Quite the opposite is true. Our rates are very competitive, while we don't skimp on your needs. As we don't charge an hourly rate a flat fee will cover your function in its entirety including family parties, weddings, etc. Important to remember: we do not use tapes. Literally thousands of records at your disposal - from the 20's right up to today's hits. We are the only Disc Jockey service to be critically acclaimed by Boston Globe Magazine. So next time you need great music at your home or function hall give us a call and we'll do it all "Let the Good Times Roll." We play the music of your life. Reserve your date now with Paul Lazzara at 944-4617. You'll be glad you did.

LET'S FACE FACTS

Meet a Celebrity for Lunch.

Third Annual Celebrity Waiters' Luncheon.

Ever wanted to watch Marvelous Marvin Hagler serve up a mean punch? Have chicken personally delivered to your table by Frank Perdue? Or get the catch-of-the-day from Dwight Evans?

The management of Citrus Hills, Florida's premier resort community, and the American Lung Association of Middlesex County have teamed up with these celebrities and many more to fight the battle against lung disease. They are the sponsors of the Third Annual Celebrity Waiters' Luncheon on October 20, at Page's Colonial in Lynnfield.

Come and see the stars in action, serving up lunch for a good cause. By letting them wait on you, you'll be helping us win the fight against lung disease with your tax-deductible contribution.

Citrus Hills – The Real Florida on the beautiful suncoast amidst rolling green hills and unspoiled woodlands – is proud to sponsor this exciting event. The Citrus Hills community truly offers something for everyone who wants to enjoy "the good life."

Make your reservations today for the Third Annual Celebrity Waiters' Luncheon by calling 272-2866.

Taste tests and great shows

Take a "taste test", record a bird "sight-ing", "touch" your way, blindfolded, through a maze, put on bongo ears and learn about their "hear-ing", and sniff your way to the "smell bar", during the USE YOUR SENSES event at the Stone Zoo in Stoneham on October 5, from noon to 5 PM.

Great Performances

As the Lowell Memorial Auditorium prepares to celebrate the first birthday of its official re-opening, a "Fabulous Fall" line-up of sports and entertainment has been decided upon.

The recently renovated Auditorium will open its season with artists such as Wayne Newton, Barbara Mandrell, Ray Charles, Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons, The Mamas and the Papas and Tom Jones. Also on tap is the Nov. 1st opening of the "Great Performances in Lowell" series, featuring Burl Ives.

On the Sports side, Lowell is to be the live site for nationally televised professional boxing, as well as World Wrestling Federation Pro Wrestling.

For subscription or ticket information, call the Lowell Memorial Auditorium box office at 454-2299 or 454-2854.

Parker Lectures

The Lowell Memorial Auditorium is also the scene for the 1986 -1987 Moses Greeley Parker Lecture series. All events are held on Sunday afternoons at 2 PM. Doors open at 1:30 PM. There is no admission charge. Oct. 5 - The Majestic Rhine; Oct. 19 - To the Holy Lands; Nov. 2 - "Oklahoma" musical; Nov. 16 - The Queen's Gardens; Dec. 14 - Ireland, Gems of the Emerald Isle; Dec. 14 - Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra; March 1- "Fiddler on the Roof"; March 8 - Hotel Barges of Europe.

Great Idea

Almost everyone has ideas for new products or services, but very few people know how to develop or sell them. "That's a Great Idea! The New Product Handbook" describes how.

If you have a new product concept, you have two basic alternatives: try to sell the idea to an existing company, or develop and sell the product yourself. Which is the best route? The right answer depends on the type of product, the market, and your own interests and capabilities. If you decide to sell the idea, there are guidelines on how to select and approach companies that might be interested in making your idea into a real product. Selling the product requires establishing a business.

You can obtain "That a Great Idea!" at your local bookstore or by sending $9.95, plus $1 for postage and handling, to Gravity Publishing, 6354 Heather Ridge, Suite 562, Oakland, California 94611.

Our story for this week is from the Brande Handbook of Humor.

An antique collector passing through a small village stopped to watch an old man chopping wood with an ancient ax.

"That's a mightly old ax you have there, " he remarked.

"Yup," said the villager, "it once belonged to George Washington."

"Not really!" gasped the collector. "It has certainly stood up well."

"Of course, " admitted the old man, "it's had three new handles and two new heads."

Antique lectures planned

The Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities (SPNEA) announces its fall lecture series entitled Craft and Connoisseurship: Professional Secrets. Consisting of five evening lectures, the series will present four SPNEA staff members and a visiting scholar explaining the personal expertise they have developed over many years of working on old buildings and fine furniture. The lectures will take place at the SPNEA property The Vale, at 185 Lyman Street, Waltham, Mass. at 8 p.m. on five successive Wednesdays from October 15 to November 12.

Lecture schedule:

October 15 — "Understanding American Furniture: Six Lessons in Connoisseurship", Brock Jobe, Chief Curator, SPNEA. A discussion of the curator's methodology in examining six pieces of furniture.

October 22 — "The Process of Sleuthing," Robert Mussey, SPNEA Furniture Conservator. The same six pieces of furniture seen from the conservator's point of view.

October 29 — "Looking at Old Houses: How to Know What You've Found When You Find It, or, What Does It All Mean?" Sara Chase, Director, SPNEA Conservation Center on how to interpret architectural evidence to derive an understanding of the past life of a house.

November 5 — "A Guide to Decorative Plasterwork and Woodwork: An English Perspective." Geoffrey Beard, a leading English authority on furniture and interior decoration, will discuss the extraordinary achievements of British joiners and plasterers in the 17th and 18th centuries.

November 12 — "Putting It Back Right the Second Time: Techniques of Restoration and Preventive Maintenance." Thompson Lingel, Properties Department, SPNEA, will discuss how to diagnose problems, restoration methods, and the establishment of a preventive maintenance program.

Reservations may be made by contacting SPNEA (617) 227-3956. Series costs $30 for SPNEA members and $40 for non-members. Individual lectures are $8 for members, $10 for non-members.

Wordprocessors/Typesetters...

Opportunities to Excel

Computervision Corporation has several positions available for experienced individuals who would like the challenge of working with advanced publications systems and the opportunity to grow.

All these positions are first shift and are located at our Woburn facility convenient to Routes 128 and 93.

WORDPROCESSOR OPERATORS
Electronic Publishing

If you're a wordprocessor operator who is bored and unchallenged in your current position, here is an opportunity to learn electronic publishing systems. We will train you to enter, revise and format customer training manuals and promotional materials using an advanced electronic publishing software package. Your work will involve using windows, and pop-up menus and you will be responsible for entering commands, editing for grammar, punctuation and format consistency. You will also use a laser printer, and be asked to operate the stat camera and do light paste-up.

We're looking for people with a high school education or equivalent, excellent typing skills, and a minimum of one year's experience in wordprocessing. You should be a strong team player and have a keen interest in learning electronic publishing system software.

TYPESETTERS

Using an Atex phototypesetting system, you will work on technical publications for our users around the world. Much of your work will not include keyboarding since you will be utilizing telecommunications-based files. You will be responsible for all formats, codes, etc., including electronic pagination.

We're looking for operators with 3-5 years' experience but will consider strong candidates with less experience. You must have experience on a computerized phototypesetting system—we will train you on the Atex if necessary.

We need real team players, capable of interacting with editors and technical illustrators, and willing to pitch-in proofreading, operating the stat camera or doing paste-up.

Please send your resume to Joe Mahoney, Computervision Corporation, 100 Crosby Drive, Bedford, MA 01730, or call 617-275-1800, ext. 5004. An equal opportunity employer m/f.

NOW YOU CAN LINK YOUR FUTURE TO OURS

CRBS is a growing world leader in the biotechnology industry, providing bioprocessing services and instrumentation. Due to our expansion, we are seeking qualified individuals in the following support positions:

MARKETING SECRETARY

Supporting our marketing & technical sales staff, you will be working for five dynamic individuals, two operating out of remote field offices. Your responsibilities will center around the coordination of the department and will include the following: heavy customer telephone contact; maintaining customer files and mailing list; tracking customer responses to direct mail and other marketing campaigns. As our Marketing Secretary, you will also type customer correspondence and internal memos using IBM S/38 wordprocessing; coordinate travel and trade show arrangements; and maintain busy calendars for three people.

The qualified candidate will be a polished professional with 3 years of marketing or sales secretarial experience and superb organizational, writing/editing, typing skills, and outstanding communication ability. Salary in the high-teens.

OPERATIONS/MARKETING SECRETARY

In this position you will be supporting our V.P. of Operations and V.P. of Marketing & Sales. As a representative of these two executives, you will have heavy interface with other secretaries, our customers, and outside organizations such as our advertising agency, and the Association of Biotechnology Companies. Additionally, you will be responsible for maintaining our executives' calendars, typing correspondence using our IBM equipment, coordinating travel arrangements, and other secretarial support duties.

The qualified candidate must have 3 years of secretarial experience, a pleasant telephone manner, excellent organizational and typing skills and a desire to help our organization grow. Experience supporting more than one executive would be a plus. Salary in the high-teens.

ACCOUNTING ASSISTANT

In this newly created position, you will become a member of a small accounting department and provide a variety of clerical support functions. This includes:; invoicing customers; resolving accounts payable problems; posting journal entries; maintaining fixed asset records; and routine typing and filing.

The qualified candidate will have 1-2 years of business experience, a high school education and the desire to learn a variety of computer software packages. Salary in the mid-teens.

If you are an energetic, self starter, and want to join a growing organization offering excellent benefits, please stop by and fill out an application or send us your resume.
